1. A filled pond after desilting efforts improved its water storage 2. Meeranaik interacts with farmers near Raichur 3. A recharged defunct borewell brings water back to a farm visited by Meeranaik

Gadag's water diviner

Born in drought-prone Kotumachagi in Gadag district, Meeranaik always wanted to do something to ease the water crisis in his village

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

SIKANDAR Meeranaik of Kotumachagi village near Gadag is well known in northern parts of the state for his water conservation efforts. He has till now rejuvenated nearly 200 lakes and 3,000 defunct borewells in Gadag district.

An expert in recharging dead borewells, Meeranaik has extended his initiative to Koppal, Raichur, Bengaluru North and other places after tasting success in Gadag.

Meeranaik and his team launched work to rejuvenate 150 lakes in Mundargi and other villages after the residents requested him a few months ago. By this month-end, work on 130 lakes will be completed.

Born in little-known Kotumachagi village, which is prone to drought, Meeranaik grew up seeing dried up lakes and people walking 4 km to fetch water from ponds and lakes.

After his bachelor's degree in social work, Meeranaik joined a government agency involved in water conservation and sanitary projects in Haveri district. He worked there for one-and-a-half years before joining a rainwater harvesting organisation in Bengaluru, where he was introduced to the Deshpande Foundation in Hubballi. A meeting with foundation CEO Naveen Jha changed his life. Naveen not only encouraged him to take up water conservation projects, but also lent him all support.

Meeranaik started his own NGO, Sankalpa Rural Development Society, in 2008 and now employs 25 people. He first launched a small project after Deshpande Foundation offered him Rs 30,000 as seed fund. Using this money, he purchased a second-hand motorcycle and met several industrialists and raised Rs 2 lakh from their CSR funds.

At the beginning, he took up water conservation projects alone. Later, help came from Infosys for a big project and he hired two people. His organisation has grown since then.

Meeranaik's college professor Anil Vaidya said, "Meeranaik's efforts have served as an inspiration for local farmers to take up rainwater harvesting initiatives to save their crops during summer. He is now popular for his water conservation initiatives. We are proud of him."

Meeranaik said, "I have seen people struggling for water since my childhood. I thought I have to do something to help them. I learnt how to recharge defunct borewells. I raised funds from several companies and recharged thousands of defunct borewells. I am now working on various water conservation projects in drought-prone villages. I thank the companies which offered me funds and other help to continue my water conservation initiatives."

From Infy to Aveva

Sikandar Meeranaik has worked with Deshpande Foundation, Infosys, SBI Foundation, Azim Premji Foundation, VRL Logistics, Fidelity, Water Harvest Foundation Australia, ICICI Bank, Microgram Social Development Foundation, Aveva Information Technology, Credit Access India Foundation and Ashraya Hasta Trust

Anna Hazare connection

According to Meeranaik, the idea for rainwater harvesting came from Anna Hazare. He read about Hazare's work of transforming drought-prone Ralegan Siddhi into a self-sufficient and water-abundant village through community-driven watershed management and rainwater harvesting initiatives

Water for hostels

Sikandar now has a list of school and college hostels that face acute water shortage. He has helped 50 hostels overcome the crisis

HELP FROM SBI FOUNDATION

The SBI Foundation selected five backward villages in Mundargi taluk of Gadag district, which were drought-prone, for water conservation. Through his initiatives, Meeranaik made Pethalur, Basapur, Harogeri, Kelur and Tamragundi villages self-sufficient in water, not only for drinking, but for also irrigation

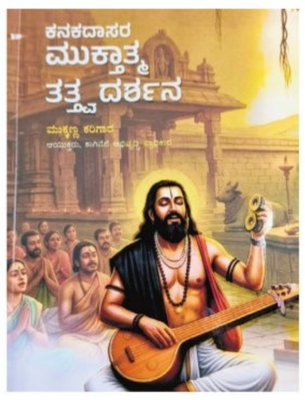
62 books behind him, this bureaucrat-poet craves more



From top: Mukkanna Karigar presents the Mahatapasvi Sri Kumaraswamy Sahitya Bhushan Award for 2025 to writer Banu Mushtaq in Raichur district; A new book comprising articles on Kanakadasa written by Mukkanna Karigar is set to be released on June 7 | EXPRESS

BASAVARAJ BHOGAVATI @ Raichur

MUKKANNA Karigar, Commissioner, Kaginele Development Authority in Haveri district, is popular in North Karnataka not only as a bureaucrat, but also as a poet and litterateur.

Karigar, a senior KAS officer, has 27 years of experience in the Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Department and has worked as taluk panchayat executive officer and zilla panchayat deputy secretary in various taluks and districts.

An authority in Kannada, Vachana and Dasa literature, Karigar has 62 books to his credit. His works include poems, moral stories, plays, research articles, competitive exam guides and reforms in the panchayat raj system.

He hails from Gabbur village in Devadurga taluk of Raichur district. As president of the Mahashaiva Dharmapeetha in Gabbur, he promotes literary and cultural activities in the region. Every year, Dharmapeetha confers "Mahatapasvi Shri Kumaraswamy Sahitya Bhushan Award" in honour of Mukkanna Karigar's guru Mahatapasvi Shri Kumaraswamy of Tapovan in Dharwad. The award carries a cash prize of Rs 1 lakh, a memento and certificate.

Dr GS Shivarudrappa, Dr Chandrashekhar Kambar, HS Shivaprakash, BA Sanadi, Prof Shashwataswamy Mukkundimath, Siddarama Honkal, Banu Mushtaq and other Kannada writers have received the award.

Book launch

"Kanakadasara Muktatma Tatva Darshana", a collection of articles by Karigar on Kanakadasa, will be released at Mahashaiva Dharampeetha in Gabbur village of Devadurga taluk in Raichur district on June 7.

"My love for literature blossomed during my high school days. When I was in Class 8, I wrote a Kannada play, "Hanada Amalu". My poem on the Sun in Kannada, English and Hindi during my college days was well received. Dr Sadanand Patil, a Kannada lecturer, recognised my talent and encouraged me to write. Kuvempu is my favourite poet," Karigar told TNSE.

Literature plays an important role in shaping one's life. However, most writers lack social commitment. Writers, who focus on personal glorification, are not committed to building a healthy society. A true writer should always work towards creating a better society, Karigar said.

'OVERJOYED': BENGALURU STUDENTS SHINE IN CET

Scrapping of NEET delayed CET councilling

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TOPPERS from Bengaluru were overjoyed with the results of the Under Graduate Common Entrance Test (UGCET) 2026 that were declared on Saturday.

Tanisha Karthik from RV PU College scored 99.44% to clinch the top position in the engineering stream. When the announcement was made and TV channels started flashing the news, she was being felicitated for bagging the second rank in the state board examination, having scored 598 out of 600.

"I was elated when a friend told me about the news. I was preparing for this for two years. I want to pursue software engineering," she said.

Suchita M from Sri Chaitanya PU College appeared in the top five of the seven streams (veterinary science, nursing, yoga, pharmacy (bachelor), and pharmacy (doctor)). Her joy was marred only by the cancellation of the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET), for which she has appeared. "I've been preparing for NEET. My preparation for over two years was NEET-oriented, and I appeared for UGCET incidentally. There's nothing we can do in a system like this; I don't care about it anymore," she said.

Ninaad Vasisht from RV PU College topped agriculture with 98.75%, but said he is more interested in pursuing engineering, in which he stood third with 98.89%. "I had no great interest in agriculture. I picked it at random. I want to pursue engineering as that is my area of interest," he said.

From government pre-university colleges in Bengaluru (Urban and Rural combined), 1521 students applied, and 1,418 of them appeared for the test.

THIS year, 3,30,646 students appeared for CET from Karnataka, of whom 3,09,014 appeared for the test that was held at 745 examination centres.

This year, KEA utilised automation technologies like facial recognition and webcasting, which, according to Medical Education Minister and KEA co-chairman Sharan Prakash Patil, left "no scope for irregularities." "There was hard work, dedication and commitment from the kids, and behind that their parents' sacrifice and support. On behalf of the state government, I congratulate them," said Patil. He also alluded to the cancellation of the NEET, adding that the counselling for CET would start from June 10 for streams other than medical. "NEET exam will be reconducted. Because of the delay, we had to delay the CET counselling a little bit," Patil said.

Pharmacy (Doctor): Nayana Gopi (100%), Amulya S (100%), Suchita M (99.44%), Johann Job (99.44%) and Rithwik Kumar (99.44%)

Both applications and student appearances took a minor hit this year. In 2025, 3,30,787 students applied and 3,11,991 appeared. This year, 63,522 students applied from Bengaluru Urban and 59,305 appeared; from Bengaluru Rural, 6,251 students applied, out of whom 5,956 appeared.

GBA can't seek land for free for changing plan: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has disagreed with the conduct of the GBA for not issuing a modified sanctioned plan to a landowner on Kanakapura Road for the construction of a residential complex by insisting that he relinquish a certain portion of his land free of cost for widening the existing 31-metre Kanakapura Main Road.

The court directed GBA to release the modified sanctioned plan and construction drawings within 30 days.

It held that a citizen cannot be deprived of proprietary rights through a bare administrative directive unsupported by law. Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order. The petitioner, Shashikumar M, claims to be the owner of residential converted land measuring 2 acres and 4.5 guntas, equivalent to approximately 92,020.5 sqft, which is part of Sy.No.49, in Thalaghattapura on Kanakapura Road in Bengaluru South. The land was converted in 2002 and the petitioner entered into a joint development agreement in 2023 with a developer and executed a general power of attorney.

The petitioner obtained a building licence in 2015 and a revised building licence in 2017 for development of a commercial building. The petitioner later approached BBMP seeking modification of the sanctioned plan to permit construction of a residential complex. He remitted Rs 1.33 crore towards statutory fees, cess, labour cess and other applicable charges. He also obtained the no objection certificates and approvals. The modified plan sanction was approved in 2024. But, it was not released. The reason given was that the petitioner had not executed a registered relinquishment deed relinquishing an extent of 381.70 sqm in favour of BBMP, free of cost, for widening of the road.

Implementation of PTCL Act comes under fire

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A STATE-level public hearing on the implementation of the Karnataka Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prohibition of Transfer of Certain Lands) (PTCL) Act, 1978, held at Gandhi Bhavan on Saturday, highlighted serious concerns over judicial interpretations, administrative failures and delays in restoring land rights to Dalit and Adivasi communities.

Organised jointly by the All India Lawyers Association for Justice (AILAJ), Manthan Law, Alternative Law Forum (ALF), PTCL Kaayde Bhoomi Vanchitara Horata Samiti and Independent Progressive Researchers, the hearing was based on a study conducted across seven districts of Karnataka. A jury comprising former Supreme Court judge Justice V Gopala Gowda, retired IAS officers SM Jaamdar and D Thangaraj, activist Jyothi Raj and PTCL expert HL Venkatesh heard testimonies from affected families and reviewed case records. Justice Gowda stressed that access to land was central to economic freedom and social justice.

Sudhir K Jain receives CMN Foundation Excellence Award 2026

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE CMN Foundation Excellence Award 2026 was conferred on Padma Shri awardee and former Director of IIT Gandhinagar, Sudhir K Jain, in recognition of his contributions to engineering education and academic leadership.

Instituted by the CMN Foundation, the annual award honours excellence in education, research and innovation. It is presented by the Thirupathi Education Society in association with CMN Institute of Technology, Bengaluru.

Speaking at the event, Jain called for a fundamental rethink of higher education in India, arguing that institutions should focus on creating lifelong learners and problem-solvers rather than merely training students for employment.

He said India was facing what he described as "academic bankruptcy", with colleges and universities increasingly geared towards meeting the immediate needs of employers instead of nurturing critical thinking and intellectual curiosity among students.

Jain also criticised the growing obsession among institutions with becoming "world-class" through rankings and publication counts, arguing that integrity, academic culture and shared values were equally important.

Calling for reforms in recruitment, governance and research evaluation, he said India's future competitiveness and security would depend on its ability to build strong educational institutions that foster innovation, independent thinking and lifelong learning.

Padma Vibhushan Vasudev K. Aatre, former Scientific Adviser to the Raksha Mantri and former head of DRDO, who was also present at the event, stressed that India can become a global power only by first becoming a knowledge-driven economy.

He said academic institutions form the foundation of innovation, technological development and leadership, and called for a renewed focus on building world-class institutions alongside producing talented graduates.

Highlighting the role of academic excellence in strengthening scientific and economic progress, Aatre warned that India has only the next two to three decades to create globally competitive institutions if it hopes to realise its ambition of becoming a fully developed nation.

Modi reviews road ahead for the economy

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

WITH dark clouds looming over the economy amid the West Asia crisis, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday convened a meeting of the Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister (EAC-PM) to assess the evolving situation and discuss the country's long-term development strategy.

The meeting came a day after the finance ministry and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) announced a slew of measures aimed at boosting foreign investment inflows and supporting the rupee, which has depreciated by around 6% since January 2026.

While most members remained tight-lipped about the deliberations, Modi said on X that the council discussed a wide range of issues related to India's economic transformation and long-term development priorities.

"Also shared perspectives on adding more momentum to the reform journey and ensuring Ease of Living as well as Ease of Doing Business," the PM said on X.

According to sources, members of the council shared their assessment of the impact of the West Asia conflict on India and the global economy. Three members present at the meeting declined to comment on the discussions when contacted.

PM's Principal Secretaries PK Mishra and Shaktikanta Das were present.

The meet assumes significance amid concerns over the economic fallout from the conflict in West Asia. Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi has warned that an "economic tsunami" could hit the country. Although the economy expanded by a robust 7.8% in the fourth quarter of FY26, many economists expect growth to moderate in the coming quarters. The RBI has revised its FY27 GDP growth forecast downward to 6.6% from 6.9% earlier. Reflecting these risks, the RBI on Friday raised its FY27 inflation forecast to 5.1% from 4.6%.

The EAC is an independent body that advises the Prime Minister on economic issues. At present, it comprises of a chairman, three full-time members and 11 part-time members. S Mahendra Dev is the chairman, while full-time members are Sanjay Kumar Mishra, Sanjeev Sanyal and Shamika Ravi.

Rules delayed senior debut, Vaibhav@15 ready

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

A DAY before the 2026 IPL started, teenage batting sensation Vaibhav Sooryavanshi turned 15. And what transpired next in little over than two months left everybody bamboozled. The world had already witnessed what Sooryavanshi can do with the willow in 2025 but the boy from Bihar took it several notches higher this season when he finished as the leading scorer, amassing 776 runs at a strike rate of 237.30 from 16 matches.

This meant his inclusion in India's T20 setup was a mere formality and selectors completed it when they named him in the squads for England, Ireland tours, and the 2026 Asian Games on Saturday.

Manish Ojha, Sooryavanshi's childhood coach, feels his entry into the national team got delayed due to an ICC rule. "I am over the moon but he should have been in the national team for the 2026 T20 World Cup," he said.

The ICC had introduced minimum age rules a few years ago to safeguard the players. It clearly said no player below the age of 15 should play an international match even at U19 level. Sooryavanshi though did that when he helped India win the 2026 U19 World Cup. But the age barrier apparently prevented the Indian cricket board from giving him a break in senior team. P19

Results declared, B'luru girl tops engineering CET

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TANISHA Karthik from RV PU College topped engineering (99.44%), Nayana Gopi from BASE PU College topped veterinary science, nursing, yoga, pharmacy (doctor) and pharmacy (bachelor) with full marks in all of them (100%), and Ninaad Vasisht from RV PU College topped agriculture (98.75%), in the results of UG Common Entrance Test (UGCET) declared on Saturday.

Soon after the results were announced on the KEA website (https://keaonline.karnataka.gov.in/ugcet_2026_results/checkresult.php) around 2 pm, there was distress as there was an outage because of the volume of visitors. Just a trailer, says CJP head after protest debut in Delhi

ADITI RAY CHOWDHURY & NITIN RAWAT @ New Delhi

HUNDREDS of students, parents and young professionals descended on Delhi's Jantar Mantar on Saturday as the Cockroach Janta Party (CJP) staged its first major street protest, demanding the resignation of Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan and issuing a seven-day ultimatum to the government.

The demonstration, led by CJP founder Abhijeet Dipke — a Boston University graduate who flew into Delhi early Saturday — drew participants from across the country, many wearing cockroach masks and carrying flowers and the national flag. Six individuals were taken into preventive custody after they were found allegedly attempting to create disturbance near the protest site. "Today's protest was just a trailer. Thank you for showing up...," Dipke wrote on X. Social activist Sonam Wangchuk joined the rally at around 1.30 pm.

Reddy withdraws resignation, but won't get B'luru devpt portfolio

Ramalinga: CM has said he will not accept my resignation, which means it is being rejected

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

SENIOR Congress MLA Ramalinga Reddy withdrew his resignation from the DK Shivakumar cabinet on Saturday evening after discussions with the party leadership, said AICC General Secretary (Organisation) Randeep Singh Surjewala. Reddy, who represents BTM Layout in the Assembly, had resigned after he was miffed at not getting the Benglauru development portfolio and instead was allotted the Major and Minor Irrigation ministry. Reddy had further claimed that Shivakumar had promised him the Bengaluru Development portfolio way back in 2023.

Reddy, however, will not get the Bengaluru Development portfolio, and instead Byatarayanapura MLA Krishna Byre Gowda will continue with that portfolio.Reddy can choose from the portfolios remaining with the CM and those that will be distributed during the cabinet expansion.

The total strength of the cabinet, including the CM, is 34. Twenty berths are still vacant.

According to informed sources, Reddy, an eight-time MLA, may opt for the higher education portfolio and additionally get a minor portfolio such as religious endowment. It is not clear as yet whether the change in portfolio will happen immediately or during the cabinet expansion, which is likely after the June 18 elections to four Rajya Sabha and seven MLC seats from Karnataka.

"The CM had said that he will not accept my resignation, which means it is being rejected," Reddy told reporters, confirming that he will no longer fight for the Bengaluru Development portfolio. "After the meeting with the CM last night, and as there was pressure from AICC and others, I was informed that my resignation has been rejected and will not be accepted at any cost," Reddy added.On the portfolio that could be allocated to him, Reddy clarified that it will depend on the situation, as he has left the decision to the Congress high command and CM Shivakumar. Reddy's statement followed a call from Shivakumar, who was at the Kadasiddeshwar Mutt near Tiptur in Tumakuru district on Saturday evening.

As senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi had made it clear that the Bengaluru Development portfolio should remain with Byre Gowda, Shivakumar conveyed the same to Reddy, informed sources told The New Sunday Express.

Earlier, AICC General Secretary and Karnataka in-charge of party affairs, Randeep Singh Surjewala, told reporters that the talks he held with Reddy along with KPCC President BK Hariprasad and Byre Gowda at a private hotel were fruitful.

"When you (media) broke the news of Reddy's so-called resignation, DK Shivakumar, BK Hariprasad, Siddaramaiah, and I spoke to him. There was some misunderstanding. He (Reddy) again met Hariprasad, Shivakumar, Siddaramaiah, and me. He will continue to work as a loyal soldier and minister of the party," Surjewala said, mocking those celebrating Reddy's resignation.

After submitting his resignation to CM's additional secretary hours before Rahul's arrival to Vidhana Soudha to accompany AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge to file his papers for Rajya Sabha polls, Reddy became incommunicado as he had switched off his mobile phone. After offering prayers at a temple in Tamil Nadu, Reddy returned home. As per Rahul's reported instructions, CM Shivakumar met Reddy and held deliberations at a hotel on Friday night that went on till the wee hours of Saturday.

"Ramalinga Reddy is my friend. I have spoken to him, and all problems have been resolved. Under no circumstances will I accept his resignation," Shivakumar told reporters at Vidhana Soudha on Saturday.

"I just want to say, Ramalinga Reddy ji is an asset of the Congress party. He started working in the Congress in 1973, much before some of us were even born. His experience and wisdom are extremely valuable to the party," Surjewala said.

Congress candidates file papers for RS, Council polls

CM DK Shivakumar on Saturday said that nomination papers for three Rajya Sabha and five Legislative Council seats have been filed. "Today we have filed the nomination papers for all five candidates. Three candidates have been fielded for the Rajya Sabha election and five for the Council election," he said.

AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge filed nomination papers for the Rajya Sabha from Karnataka at Vidhana Soudha here on Friday. Shivakumar said that Congress national spokesperson Pawan Khera has been fielded from Karnataka. Along with him, an opportunity has also been given to AICC secretary and youth leader Mansoor Ali Khan."For all five Legislative Council seats, including the KPCC president, the opportunity has been given to Congress workers," the CM said.

Early turbulence or signs of deeper trouble?

THIS is not the ideal start that Chief Minister DK Shivakumar or the Congress high command would have expected for the new government sworn into office earlier this week. Less than 24 hours after portfolios were allotted to the new ministers, the government had to grapple with a political crisis that could have far-reaching implications on how it performs and is perceived during its short tenure of less than two years.

The high command leaders – who are making all decisions pertaining to power transition, ministry formation, and portfolio allocation – were caught off guard by the resignation from the cabinet by Ramalinga Reddy, who was unhappy over not being given the Bengaluru Development portfolio. Although the CM and AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala convinced Reddy to continue in the cabinet by assuring him of additional portfolios, the resignation episode came as an initial setback for the government.

It makes two things clear: the party's central leadership, which ensured a smooth transition of power from Siddaramaiah to Shivakumar, was not fully prepared with its follow-through plan. And if it did have a plan, senior leaders in the state were not consulted or taken into confidence before putting it into action.

It was an avoidable controversy that has landed the party in a no-win situation. Accepting Reddy's demand would have given the impression that the leadership is weak, and the ministerial aspirants would have started exerting pressure openly instead of plainly lobbying with party leaders. Now, the government has only a partial cabinet with just 14 ministers, including the CM, while the remaining 20 berths are yet to be filled.

Reddy is a gentleman politician who has won Assembly elections from Bengaluru eight times on the trot since 1989. He is no pushover. In his long political career that included serving as a minister with a number of chief ministers – including the two tenures of Siddaramaiah – Reddy handled many key portfolios, including Home, Bengaluru Development, Transport, Education, Food and Civil Supplies, and also served as Minister of State for Finance. He also served as Working President of Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC). He is the party's go-to man for all issues related to Bengaluru politics.

Slighting a senior leader of that stature could negatively affect the party, even demoralising the cadre and leaders opposing the total top-down approach within the party. Its effects could be felt in the upcoming elections to the five corporations in the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA), assembly, and Lok Sabha polls. Winning the GBA polls, which are scheduled to be held before August-end, is a matter of prestige for the party in power. Even senior leaders in Congress admit that, as things stand, they can at best win one or two out of five city corporations in the state capital. In the 2023 assembly polls, Congress won 12 out of 28 seats in Bengaluru, while the remaining 16 went to the BJP, which won all four Lok Sabha seats in the state capital in the General Elections the following year.

Reddy and a few others like Krishna Byregowda – the latter got the Bengaluru Development portfolio – play a crucial role in retaining the Congress's base in the state capital. Perhaps, given a chance, Shivakumar would have avoided the controversy and kept his word to allot the Bengaluru Development portfolio to Reddy, who was instead allotted the Major & Medium Irrigation portfolio. But the CM has made it clear that the party seniors took the decision to give the portfolio to Krishna Byregowda.

For now, the party's senior leaders have tried to control the damage and pacified Reddy by offering additional portfolios, but not Bengaluru Development which he has sought. However, the episode has exposed the fault lines within the party, which former Law Minister HK Patil has termed a "massive wake-up call".

What is alarming for the party is that not just Reddy, but Food & Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa, too, openly expressed displeasure over the portfolio allotted to him. He was also consoled by senior party leaders, including the CM.

Some Congress leaders may dismiss them as initial hiccups and misunderstandings that have been resolved, but they reflect poorly on the new government's image. Also, it is unclear if Shivakumar has absolute autonomy to take major decisions and deal with the crisis, or if Siddaramaiah and the high command weigh in too much on the decision-making. Besides, a crisis like this will tend people to compare the leadership of Shivakumar with that of Siddaramaiah on their respective capabilities of ensuring a cohesive government. In such matters, although the decisions are taken by the high command, the blame would be squarely placed on the CM if things went wrong.

Unlike Siddaramaiah, who had a clean slate to work with, the new leadership inherits several governance and political challenges from the previous administration. Expectations are high, but time is short, and if the CM has to deliver, he must get full freedom. Limited functional autonomy to him will do no good to the party or the state.

CM: Let's set aside politics, work for people's welfare

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Saturday said he would meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi and, for the welfare of the people of the state, they should all come together and do whatever work needs to be done.

On the PM's remarks that people's anger forced Congress to change the CM in Karnataka, Shivakumar said, "PM Narendra Modi has wished me well. I thank him. I will go and meet him respectfully. He need not play politics, and we need not play politics. For the welfare of the people of the state, let us all come together and do whatever work needs to be done." The BJP state unit, meanwhile, took to social media platform X to hit out at the Congress over alleged differences within the Grand Old Party over the allocation of portfolios to ministers. "Karnataka voted for governance. Instead, it got instability, infighting, and a never-ending struggle for power. Karnataka deserves better," the BJP added.

The BJP stated that the bitter power struggle over the CM's chair has exposed the Congress' deep leadership crisis, from state leadership to the very top. "While allegations of corruption and misgovernance mounted under the Siddaramaiah government, the Congress high command remained a silent spectator. Now, even before the dust has settled, infighting over portfolios and public disagreements have begun surfacing within the new dispensation. For Congress leaders, the battle appears to be about power, positions, and political survival. Governance has taken a back seat, while Rahul Gandhi remains conspicuously absent from the crisis," the BJP added.

Both in Tumakuru, CM visits Ajjayya, DCM holds roadshow with supporters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Tumakuru

CHIEF Minister DK Shivakumar on Saturday visited his deity 'Gangadhara Ajjayya' at Kadasiddeshwara Mutt at Nonavinakere near Tiptur and fulfilled his vows as he believes that the blessings of the deity helped him get elevated to the top post. His deputy Dr G Parameshwara too was in town, celebrating with his supporters, especially former minister KN Rajanna -- a staunch loyalist of former CM Siddaramaiah.

As the two leaders arrived one after the other, they were given a rousing welcome at the city gateway.

Shivakumar also met astrologer Nagaraja Shastry at Bududeghatta with whom he has a long-time connection, sources said.

"I have come to Kadasiddeshwara Mutt not as CM, but as a devotee. I am not new to the mutt. I have been coming here for the last 25 years. At every stage of my life, I have come here to serve, pray and seek guidance. I have come here on all occasions, before the elections, after the elections and after assuming power. There is a relationship between a devotee and God here," he told reporters.

Shivakumar said he is ready to contribute to further development of the holy Mallaghatta tank in the region as work worth Rs 35 crore is already underway. He inspected the work there and also at Nonavinakere tank.

"I will not leave my religion, I respect all religions," he said, when asked what message he sent by following Hindu scriptures during the oath-taking ceremony. He pointed out that he had invited all religious leaders to the ceremony. He said, "No matter what religion, we cannot leave our religion. Even if we do namakarana, ear piercing, Upanayana in every house, it will be based on one's religion."

He said, "The responsibility of protecting the interests of the state is on me, and I have started the work after receiving everyone's blessings."

He vowed to work for the development of the city by pursuing key development projects, including the expansion of Metro services for which the DPR is being prepared.

No pic of Deputy CM in official ad, JDS slams CM

BENGALURU: JDS on Saturday took a dig at Chief Minister DK Shivakumar after an official advertisement by the Backward Classes Department in newspapers on former CM D Devaraj Urs featured only the CM's picture and not that of Deputy CM Dr G Parameshwara. "The true justice of the INC Karnataka party, which constantly preaches about social justice, has been exposed in today's newspapers! When it was you, your photograph was mandatory. But when a Dalit leader is the Deputy Chief Minister, is there suddenly no space for his photo, Mr Chief Minister? In the very advertisement for a programme honouring Devaraj Urs, who dedicated his entire life to the Backward and Dalit classes, Shivakumar has displayed his arrogance and monopoly by completely omitting the photograph of the current DCM and prominent Dalit leader Dr G Parameshwara," the JDS posted on the social media platform X. "Is this the level of neglect shown towards Dalit leaders...even in an official advertisement from the Backward Classes Welfare Department? The public will surely teach a fitting lesson to the arrogance of the Congress which treats Dalits as nothing more than a vote bank," the JDS added. The JDS also said that the advertisement on the 'Bhoo Guarantee' did not carry the picture of Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda. ENS

LOBBYING INTENSIFIES TO FIND SPOT IN CABINET, ZAMEER IN DELHI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as the DK Shivakumar government in Karnataka is overcoming its initial crisis over allotment of portfolios as several of the 13 ministers are unhappy, legislators aspiring to enter the cabinet in the possible expansion have started to resort to pressure tactics.

Former minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan's supporters staged a demonstration in the Chamarajpet Assembly constituency in Bengaluru on Saturday. Zameer represents Chamarajpet in the Legislative Assembly.

The police, however, took the agitators into preventive custody. Zameer's supporters at places like Chitradurga and Raichur also staged demonstrations. They alleged that the Congress high command had done injustice to Zameer after benefiting from his contribution to win the recent Kerala Assembly polls.

Zameer was denied a berth after he was accused by several Congress leaders of indulging in anti-party activities in the Davanagere South bypoll. Also, a purported audio clip in which Zameer is allegedly heard saying that the voters should vote for SDPI or independents went viral.

It is said that Zameer had left for Delhi to meet AICC General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal to stake claim for a ministerial berth during the expansion.

Meanwhile, the supporters of three-time Hubballi-Dharwad East MLA Abbayya Prasad, also the Slum Development Board chairman, staged demonstrations demanding that he made a minister. But he, however, maintained that the demonstration was voluntary.

Former Assembly deputy speaker Rudrappa Lamani and Hanagal MLA Srinivas Mane have also said that Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and former Chief Ministerr Siddaramaiah had promised them ministerial positions.

The BJP is actually in a state of shock because they thought they had found an issue in the smooth transition of power and were hoping to gain some political capital from everything they had lost in the eyes of the people

Meanwhile, Ballari MP E Tukaram has asked for a ministerial berth for his wife Annapoorna, who represents the Sandur (ST) seat.

Senior Congress leaders, including former minister Shivaraj Tangadagi, Ashok Pattan, Appaji CS Nadagouda, SN Narayanaswamy, AR Krishnamurthy, and PM Narendraswamy among others are lobbying strongly as the cabinet expansion is likely to happen after the June 18 polls to four Rajya Sabha and seven MLC seats from Karnataka.

Live-in partner's kid dies mysteriously, realtor held

Woman, an advocate, goes missing, gives different versions for death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 47-year-old private school owner from Davanagere filed a police complaint, blaming his wife and her live-in partner for the mysterious death of his five-and-a-half-year-old daughter. The woman, who has filed for divorce, was staying with her live-in partner and the child at a villa in Bengaluru.

On March 25, the woman's brother called the school owner, B Praveen, and informed him about the girl's death. Praveen, who grew suspicious, sent a copy of the child's post-mortem report to his sister, who is a doctor in England, asking her opinion. The doctor suspected foul play in the girl's death, prompting Praveen, who is from Harihar in Davanagere, to file the complaint at the Kadugodi police station on Thursday.

In the complaint, he has named his 44-year-old wife, an advocate, and her 40-year-old live-in partner Mohan G Mahalingappa, a land developer, for the death of his daughter, P Venella. She died on March 24. The woman was staying with Mohan and Venella at a villa in Seegehalli in Kadugodi. Their other daughter, who is 17 years old, stays with Praveen.

"The live-in partner, Mohan, was arrested and is being questioned, while the search is on for the victim's mother," said a police officer.

In his complaint, Praveen stated that his wife met her college friend and former boyfriend Mohan in November 2025 when she was in Bengaluru handling a land dispute. She became close to Mohan over time and forced Praveen to sign the divorce papers.

The woman told her brother that around 11 pm on March 24, she ordered biryani and fed it to the child. In the morning, she found the child dead. She also allegedly gave another version, where she said that she and Mohan had gone to a restaurant in Kolar to celebrate her birthday. Before that, they had given Vennela ice cream and left the child sleeping inside the car with the air conditioner on, even as they went into the restaurant. Later, they took the child home and put her to bed, but found her dead the next morning.

Praveen's sister, who is a paediatric specialist practising in England, told him that the wife and her live-in partner might have done something to the child that may have caused the death.

Praveen stated in his complaint that his wife and her boyfriend might have considered the child an obstacle in their relationship and eliminated her. He alleged that the two have kicked the child in the stomach and suffocated her to death. To conceal their crime, they later admitted the child to a hospital, he added. A case of murder and disappearance of evidence has been registered against the accused, the police said.

3 drunks steal from supermarket, 1 held

Exercise should be regular: treks, expeditions a reward, says climber

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH increasing cases of people, particularly techies and teens, complaining of early osteoarthritis, experts and doctors ask youth to exercise regularly and look at trekking and expeditions as a reward.

Sidharth Uniyal, known as BadKneesGuru, was promoting this. He successfully completed four Himlayan peaks above 6,000 metres in five days in May 2026, in collaboration with the Bengaluru-based adventure firm, TrekNomads. He summited Nirekha Peak (6,159m), Lobuche Peak (6,119m), Island Peak (6,189m) and Mera Peak (6,476m).

Uniyal, who has suffered knee injuries and undergone three critical knee surgeries, said youth look at treks and expeditions as an adventure, but that should not be the case. Exercising at least 3-4 times a week helps improve fitness, he said. The reason why Uniyal is inspiring others is that he had undergone three ACL (anterior cruciate ligament) surgeries, suffered serious meniscus and cartilage damage and currently functions without an ACL in his left knee. Also, just 15 days before the expedition, he twisted his knee again. He is also the founder of Granimals, a global injury recovery and performance platform.

KSPCB warns govt depts over use of plastic bottles

'Go for eco-friendly options; govt offices, events produce 2 cr bottles/year'

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

DESPITE a ban on the use of plastic bottles in all government offices, meetings and events, the usage of these continues to be seen. Taking note of this, the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) said a notice will be sent out to all government departments, particularly the corporations and district administrations, pointing to the laxity of duty and cautioning them of strict action.

The orders were issued by the state environment and ecology department in September 2018. The KSPCB was assigned as the agency for ensuring its implementation. The orders were issued after an assessment by the state environment and ecology department and the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms. It was then reported that over two crore bottles were collected annually from such events. The orders also stated that other eco-friendly alternatives should be used like tumbles, glass bottles, water dispensers and so on.

The order aimed to lead by example and reduce the use of plastic bottles by citizens across the state. However, the orders have not been implemented to date. KPSCB Chairman PM Narendra Swamy said the board had issued clear directions to the local authorities to implement the orders. But it has not been done.

There has been a rise in the number of plastic bottles disposed of everywhere, which needs to be immediately addressed. In the meantime, KPSCB officials are also examining a proposal submitted by a Dharwad-based startup, which collects PET bottles at the cost of Re 1 each. They are then crushed into fine particles and used for making other reusable bottles and other materials. Narendra said that a meeting with officials and ministers from the urban development department, rural development, panchayat raj and municipal administrations will be called for to discuss this idea. It will not just reduce the number of bottles disposed of on the ground, but also reduce the burden upon the municipalities.

Another KSPCB official said that the Extended Producer Responsibility directions issued by the State and Central governments to companies to take back the bottles and plastic items are not being strictly implemented.

Furthermore, the local administrations are also not strictly enforcing it, which is a bigger problem. This will be discussed with the Chief Minister for stringent implementation, the official said.

East corp removes 100 tonne of waste

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

MARKING the World Environment Day, the Bengaluru East City Corporation (BECC) carried out a large-scale cleanliness drive and tree plantation programme in KR Puram and Doddanekkundi wards, removing over 100 tonne of debris and clearing 18 garbage black spots, said BECC Commissioner DS Ramesh.

The corporation deployed 1,600 pourakarmikas, auto-tipper drivers, marshals and volunteers, along with 14 tractors, six tipper lorries, six compactor vehicles, 20 auto-tippers and three earthmovers to clear waste. Public spaces, including Gangashetty Lake, government schools and colleges, and a government hospital, were cleaned. Arterial and sub-arterial roads, ward roads, medians, bus shelters, parks, footpaths and other public spaces underwent extensive cleaning.

60 saplings were planted at Vengayyana Lake, while officials have been told to prepare an action plan for planting more saplings. Wall paintings and murals were created on the compound walls of several government buildings.

BECC officials booked 26 cases over the use of banned single-use plastics and littering in public places, collecting penalties amounting to Rs 30,000.

T'gana villagers protest land survey, throw stones at babus

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

A land dispute involving villagers of Karnataka and Telangana has affected the livelihood of the SC/ST community at Shadipur in Chincholi taluk.

The Karnataka government had sanctioned 188 acres of land (Survey No 126 and 127) of Shadipur village to 54 people, including SC/STs, land holders and ex-service men at Shadipur in 2002. They were also given 'pahani' (Record of Rights, Tenancy and Crops -- RTC) in their names.

However, neighbouring villagers of Umla Naik tanda from Vikarabad district in Telangana dispute this. A team of officials, including Assistant Commissioner of Sedam Prabhu Reddy (under whose jurisdiction Chincholi taluk falls), Chincholi Tahsildar Subbanna Jamakhandi, Deputy Director of Land Records Mahesh and police officials, visited Shadipur village to demarcate the land on June 3. But the villagers from Umla Naik tanda threw stones, saying the land belonged to them.

Villagers of Shadipur told the officials that mining of red soil is going on illegally on Survey No 126. The team had returned without carrying out its work. Sources said the Chincholi tahsildar has written to the Sedam assistant commissioner, seeking a joint survey of the land in dispute by officials of revenue, land records and mining departments of Karnataka and Telangana. Kalaburagi Deputy Commissioner Ikram Shariff told TNSE that the dispute will be resolved through talks. If needed, the issue would be brought to the notice of the revenue commissioner, he added.

SKILLED GLOBAL MIGRATION CORRIDOR: GERMAN COMPANY SELECTS 5 GTTC STUDENTS

BENGALURU: Rheinbahn AG, one of Germany's leading public transport operators, selected five students of Karnataka's Government Tool Room and Training Centre (GTTC) for placement under the German Ausbildung (dual vocational training) programme beginning September this year. The Letters of Intent (LOIs) were handed to the five candidates by Dr Sharanprakash R Patil, Minister for Skill Development and Medical Education, at a ceremony held at Vikasa Soudha on Saturday. The Ausbildung programme is a globally respected German model of vocational education which leads to an internationally recognised qualification. Speaking on the occasion, Dr Patil said, "Our youth have the talent and the discipline to compete with the best in the world. Through partnerships like this, our government is committed to opening global doors for our skilled young men and women. This first batch is only the beginning of a much larger journey." ENS

156 STUDENTS GRADUATE AT BIOCON ACADEMY'S 10TH CONVOCATION

BENGALURU: Biocon Academy, a Centre of Excellence for Advanced Learning in Applied Biosciences, hosted its 10th graduation ceremony on Saturday, with 156 students graduating across five programmes. Women accounted for 70% of the graduating cohort. Seven batches from five programmes participated in the ceremony. The graduates were felicitated by Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw, Chief Mentor of Biocon Academy and Executive Chairperson of Biocon Limited; Dr EV Ramana Reddy, Chairman of the Karnataka Skill Development Authority (KSDA); and Group Captain Prasanth Nair, astronaut (Gaganyaatri) with the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO). Addressing the graduates, Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw said, "As science evolves, so must skilling. With the launch of new programmes in Artificial Intelligence in Life Sciences and Drug Metabolism and Pharmacokinetics, Biocon Academy continues to align its curriculum with emerging industry needs. Our graduates are equipped not just to participate in the industry, but to shape its future through innovation and impact." ENS

STUDENTS MUST HAVE THE DETERMINATION TO ACHIEVE THEIR GOALS IN LIFE: HEMANSHU DESAI

BENGALURU: Students should set clear goals in life and possess the determination to achieve them. They should not waste their valuable time, said Hemanshu Desai, chairman of New India Group and an alumnus of Ramaiah Institute of Technology, at a farewell ceremony organised by RIT. Desai said, "If a person has no goal in life, life itself will move without direction or purpose. Students must value time. Lost time can never be regained. Therefore, the time available should be utilised wisely. We must understand that even the most successful people have only 24 hours in a day." 1,882 students from BE, BArch, MTech, MArch, MBA, and MCA programs received their degrees. Several students were also honoured with the Best Student Award. ENS

5 DEAD AS HEAVY RAIN BATTERS NORTH KERALA

Residents wade through knee-deep waters following heavy rain in a village in Kozhikode, Kerala on Saturday | VINCENT PULICKAL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kozhikode / Kasaragod/Thrissur

HEAVY rain lashed Kerala, especially the northern districts, on Saturday, triggering a series of fatal accidents, land cave-ins, and structural collapses that claimed five lives, including three children. Two siblings, aged 14 and 9, died after a compound wall collapsed on them in Kasaragod, while a woman and her son drowned in the swollen Kuttiadi river in Kozhikode district. In another incident, a 28-year-old man died after a tree uprooted and fell on a shed during strong winds in Thrissur on Friday night. Meanwhile, with the monsoon intensifying, the India Meteorological Department (IMD) has issued orange and yellow alerts for many districts till Wednesday, warning heavy rain. Orange alerts have been issued for Thrissur, Palakkad, Malappuram, Kozhikode, Wayanad, Kannur and Kasaragod districts on Sunday, while an yellow alert has been sounded for the remaining districts on the day.

At Sanchakkadavu in Kasaragod's Delampady panchayat, two siblings -- Class 8 student Musammil and Class 5 student Munsir -- running a holiday snack shop to earn some pocket money died and their friend, Wahash,14, sustained injuries after the retaining wall of a recently inaugurated house collapsed in heavy rain, burying them.

In Kozhikode, the swollen Kuttiadi river claimed the lives of a 35-year-old woman, Remya Subheesh, and her son. Remya, a pharmacist, had gone to the river near her house at Kadiyangad around 5pm to wash clothes, accompanied by her two children. Remya jumped into the river to save him. In Thrissur, a 28-year-old died after a tree uprooted and fell on a shed during strong winds on Friday night. Vishnu, a resident of Gothambu Road in Manalur, was sleeping in the temporary palm-leaf shed constructed adjacent to his house as part of the ongoing house construction work when the tree in the compound fell on the shed, trapping him underneath. It cautioned fishermen to avoid fishing along the Kerala-Lakshadweep-Karnataka coasts from June 6 to 9 as strong winds of speeds reaching 40 to 60 kmph were likely along that region.

Southwest monsoon enters Andhra

Visakhapatnam: The southwest monsoon entered parts of Andhra Pradesh on Saturday, advancing into Rayalaseema region, even as heatwave conditions continued across several districts of the State. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) stated that conditions are favourable for the monsoon to advance further into the remaining parts of Andhra Pradesh and adjoining regions over the few days. According to the Andhra Pradesh State Disaster Management Authority (APSDMA), the monsoon is likely to gradually spread across most parts of the State by mid-June. Last year, the southwest monsoon entered Andhra Pradesh on May 26.

Nor'wester causes damage in Odisha

Bhubaneswar: The heat index in Bhubaneswar soared to 50 degree C on Saturday but the sweltering conditions gave way to a dramatic weather change as a severe Kalabaisakhi (nor'wester) accompanied by rain and hail lashed the capital city in the afternoon, causing widespread damage and disruptions. The thunderstorm damaged electricity infrastructure and disrupted power supply in several parts of Bhubaneswar. Residents expressed frustration over the prolonged power outage, with many reporting that electricity had not been restored even five hours after the rain had stopped.

Annamalai's outfit not blessed by brass: TN BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

IN the wake of a spate of resignations of BJP office-bearers and them joining K Annamalai's 'We The Leaders', party state president Nainar Nagenthran on Saturday said that the new political movement does not have the blessings of the top leadership, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and the party's national president Nitin Nabin. He urged cadre not to be misled into believing otherwise.

Nagenthran mentioned that only a few state-level leaders and several grassroots functionaries had joined the former BJP state president's movement. "Do not be deceived into thinking you can be part of both the BJP and another political movement. Remain committed to the party's ideology and continue to strengthen the BJP," he stressed. eeking to downplay the impact of the development, Nainar said it had not affected BJP. "BJP is the largest political party in the world. Many senior leaders, including Kalyan Singh and Uma Bharti, had left the party at various points of time and later returned. No one who left the BJP has achieved lasting political success outside it," he said. The BJP would welcome back those who had joined the movement if they chose to return, he added.

Rejecting suggestions that Annamalai had differences with the BJP leadership over the past 18 months, Nagenthran said he had actively participated in programmes attended by Narendra Modi and Amit Shah and that he had campaigned extensively during elections. "If there had been differences, he could have made them known then," he said.

Won't allow dam at Mekedatu: TN Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Erode

TAMIL Nadu will not allow the construction of a dam at Mekedatu under any circumstances, said Minister for Revenue and Disaster Management KA Sengottaiyan, in Gobichettipalayam in Erode on Saturday.

Addressing reporters, Sengottaiyan said, "We have been continuously fighting against the construction of a new dam at Mekedatu across the Cauvery. Our chief minister's vision is that not even a single drop of Cauvery water flowing towards Tamil Nadu should be blocked by Karnataka. The government is closely monitoring the issue and will take all necessary legal steps to prevent the construction of the dam. The chief minister has clearly conveyed Tamil Nadu's stance on the Mekedatu dam issue to the Prime Minister. But what they discussed about it should not be revealed," he added.

The minister also stated that the government is taking steps to maintain reservoirs and water bodies such as Bhavanisagar Dam, Aliyar Dam and Thamirabarani River in a clean condition. Measures are being taken to prevent sewage and drainage water from entering waterbodies. He added that the government's goal is to provide clean drinking water through public pipelines so that people do not have to purchase water.

"Several welfare schemes are being implemented effectively under the leadership of Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay. During the recent Cabinet meeting, detailed discussions were held on development projects and statistical targets for the next five years, and the CM has instructed officials to expedite their implementation."

Flight suffers bird hit at KIA before take-off

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

AN Indigo flight from Bengaluru to Mumbai carrying over 200 passengers returned before it could take-off on Friday evening after it suffered a bird hit. The passengers had to alight from the aircraft and the same plane took off 103 minutes later after it was declared fit to fly.

Flight 6E 6283, an A321 Neo aircraft, took off at 7.05 pm from Terminal 1 of the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) on Friday. "It was taxiing on the runway for the take-off roll before taking off when it reportedly suffered a bird hit. The pilot decided to return to the bay as a precautionary measure. The flight did not suffer any major damage. The protocol to be observed in such incidents was followed and the flight took off," said an IndiGo source.

The passengers disembarked after it returned and they had to return to terminal. "All checks were completed on the aircraft and it was found fully fit to fly. The passengers were flown by the same aircraft to Mumbai," the source said. When sought for the KIA version, a spokesperson for the airport did not divulge any information.

WARS, TARIFFS, LEAKS: SILENCE OF ANSWERS DEEPENS THE DRIFT

THE THIRD EYE

SHANKKAR AIYAR

AN eerie sense of foreboding hangs heavy in the air. The list of known unknowns is growing longer. The past seems safe, vanquished. The future, as Beryl Markham observed, lives in a cloud—formidable from a distance. The sense of drift underlines a dark suspicion: does geopolitics offer a premium on inaction? Amid a vacuum of response to crises, here are a few observations.

At 10.30 am on Friday morning, Donald J Trump celebrated "a great Jobs report" and added "stocks should go up". By noon, the S&P500 had slid nearly 3 percent and tech-heavy Nasdaq plunged over 4 percent. This column underlined the trillion-dollar systemic risk of AI giants dominating indices. To appreciate the magnitude of domination and risk, consider this: the market cap of the top 10 AI-linked tech stocks, at over $28 trillion, is larger than China's GDP—and the IPOs of OpenAI, Anthropic and SpaceX are yet to be added.

Between breakfast and lunch, more than a trillion dollars were wiped out on Wall Street. The reason for the slide rule: fear of a rate hike by the US Federal Reserve. It was not just stocks. The entire metals group—gold, silver, copper, platinum—went down with the stocks. The yield of the 2-year bond shot up 11 basis points within minutes. Trump's darling Bitcoin dipped to $59,000, the lowest since Trump's re-election. The threat of inflation was not unknown. Inflation is already up across the world and visible across national balance sheets.

Inflation is the foster child of Trump's war in West Asia. Sunday makes it 100 days since the war began as a dip-in and dip-out operation. It continues although Trump claims the US "obliterated" Iran in the first week. The world is stuck between words and meanings—for instance, are the purported ceasefires in Gaza, Lebanon and across the Hormuz Strait really ceasefires? In a bizarre explanation, Trump says, in that part of the world "ceasefire is when you're shooting in a more moderate manner". The US President is boxed with no playbook to end the war. The week is a classic long straddle: it begins with a call on peace and ends with a put on obliteration.

Like the tariff war is similarly endless. It is 432 days since the infamous Liberation Day, and yet, chaos reigns. Much water has passed through the Potomac and the Anacostia. The US Supreme Court has shot down tariffs and forced refunds. An undeterred Trump, as this column predicted, is paving new ways to deploy old laws. He imposed tariffs of 10 percent and 12.5 percent on 60 countries, leveraging Section 301 of the US Trade Act of 1974 to accuse countries of importing "goods produced with forced labour". Effectively, that is code for import of intermediates from China!

Friday saw India inform the world that its GDP grew at 7.7 percent last year. There wasn't much cheer. That very morning, the Reserve Bank lowered its forecast for growth in the coming year to 6.6 percent and hiked it for inflation to 5.1 percent. The narrative was trapped in the chasm between the vanquished past and a future wrapped in foreboding clouds. India began the decade as the fifth largest economy, hovered at fourth and slid to sixth. With GDP at around $3.76 trillion, it is a nudge away from France, ranked seventh with a GDP of $3.66 trillion. There is the war effect and there is the fog of unfinished agenda.

The fall in rank and stature is blamed on a plunging rupee—down 10 percent from 86 to a US dollar to 95 in a year. The rupee is the villain and victim of circumstance. Foreign institutional sales lead to its fall and its fall leads to FII sales. The RBI has unveiled six measures—the big two being opening up long-tenure bonds to foreign investors and a facility to pay for the hedging cost of banks fetching dollar deposits. Will it pay off? It did in September 2013, argue the proponents. The circumstances are vastly different. In 2013, India's policy rate was at 7.5 percent and the US Fed Funds rate was 0.08 percent. The differential (effectively 7.5 percent) plus the currency risk cover was truly lavish. In 2025, India's policy rate is 5.25 percent and the Fed Funds rate is between 3.5 percent and 3.75 percent. Is the rate high enough to lure depositors?

Like the rupee's fall symbolises unattended issues. There is much lament about India lacking an AI story. It is true, but it is not the only cause worthy of lament. India's private sector is sitting on around ₹15 lakh crore of cash and not investing; the country has a pathetic record in R&D spend. The ₹1-lakh-crore Research Development and Innovation Fund could help if disbursed. The ₹1-lakh-crore Urban Challenge Fund could drive smart urbanisation if allocations are speeded. Two panels were tasked in February 2025 to clear the regulatory quagmire. What have they suggested? Will it take fewer than 116 approvals and permits for a solar project? Is it easier to build a hotel or a hospital?

Finally, nothing speaks to the sense of drift more than the approach to resolve issues affecting the youth–for instance, the saga of paper leaks. In December 2025, a parliamentary standing committee bluntly stated the National Testing Agency did not inspire confidence. In 2026, the NTA proved them right! Why wouldn't the education ministry reach out to techies who manage billion-dollar enterprises to design a system?

India's economy is haunted by unanswered questions. Margaret Heffernan famously said, "Silence is the language of inertia." In India's political economy, the inertia is nurtured by the politics of complicity.

MODI'S MIGHT, INDIA BLOC'S DESPAIR

POWER & POLITICS

INDIAN democracy is at a perilous crossroads. It stands before a contest of giants and ghosts. On one side is a political colossus fortified by leadership, organisation and the formidable privileges of power. On the other is an opposition haunted by indecision, hobbled by scarcity and struggling to articulate a compelling alternative. The meetings of the INDIA bloc on June 8 and the NDA chief ministers on June 10 are not ordinary political appointments. They are milestones in a widening struggle that could determine the balance of power in the republic for the rest of the decade. They dramatise an unequal contest that will shape the nation's politics until 2029 and beyond.

The INDIA bloc convenes on Monday in an atmosphere of barely concealed despondency. The recent West Bengal assembly verdict has left its constituents nursing deep wounds. Once touted as the only viable counter to the BJP's national dominance, the alliance now looks more like a loose confederation of regional satraps than a national alternative.

Attendance itself tells the story of fracture. The Congress, as the convenor, will be present in strength, represented by Rahul Gandhi and senior office-bearers. Mamata Banerjee is expected to fly in from Kolkata, Akhilesh Yadav from Lucknow, and possibly Tejashwi Yadav on behalf of the Rashtriya Janata Dal. Arvind Kejriwal's Aam Aadmi Party may send a senior leader to avoid further embarrassment after recent setbacks in Punjab and Delhi. Crucially absent will be two pillars that once lent the alliance ideological heft and southern ballast. The Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK) has signalled it will stay away, still smarting from what it sees as Congress's tacit support to the Tamilaga Vettri Kazhagam government in Tamil Nadu. Left parties such as the CPI(M), CPI and their smaller allies are equally unlikely to turn up, having publicly accused the Congress of betraying secular principles in the south.

The boycott is not mere sulking; it is a declaration that the glue holding INDIA together has begun to dissolve. The agenda for June 8 is therefore defensive by design. Leaders will review the post-Bengal "doom", as one strategist privately called it. Expect a litany of attacks on the Centre: persistent paper leaks that have destroyed the futures of millions of students, an economy that continues to post impressive headline numbers while job creation lags, power cuts even in summer, and a foreign-exchange squeeze triggered by volatile global commodity prices and an overvalued rupee.

IANS

The tone will be aggressive, even shrill. Rahul is likely to frame the meeting as the beginning of a renewed ideological battle—Modi's majoritarianism versus the Constitution's promise of pluralism. For the divided and fragmented opposition, Rahul isn't yet a successful leader to lead it. But they still trust his roaring Rahulism, another version of welfarism. Yet, beneath the rhetoric lies an uncomfortable truth: the alliance has no single leader, no common minimum programme beyond anti-Modi sentiment, and precious few resources to match the BJP's war chest. It is a gathering of the aggrieved, not the ascendant.

The June 10 NDA conclave is less a forum for policy than a pageant of personality and still lesser a workshop of ideas than a worship service for leadership. It will showcase a party determined to convert political success into supremacy, victory into virtuosity, dominance into destiny. Chief ministers will take turns polishing the legend of the "invincible leader" and the indefatigable Prime Minister whose shadow stretches across both government and party. As Uttar Pradesh, Uttrakhand and Punjab edge towards electoral battle, the objective is not merely mobilisation but demoralisation not simply winning votes but occupying minds.

On one side stands Narendra Modi, the master communicator who has fused development, cultural nationalism and welfare delivery into an electorally potent cocktail. On the other is Rahul Gandhi, who has spent years trying to reinvent himself as the voice of the marginalised, yet continues to be dogged by questions of leadership and dynastic baggage. The INDIA bloc will demonise Modi as an authoritarian figure presiding over institutional erosion and economic exclusion. The NDA will portray the opposition as a collection of dynasts and regional opportunists incapable of offering a positive agenda. Both sides are preparing not merely for the next election, but for the final battle of 2029, when Modi would be in his mid-seventies and the question of succession within the BJP will become unavoidable.

Yet, the deeper story is structural. The ruling party has converted incumbency into a self-reinforcing cycle: welfare schemes create beneficiaries, beneficiaries deliver votes, votes legitimise further centralisation of power and resources. The opposition, by contrast, remains trapped in a vicious cycle of defeat, desertion and debt. State units that lose power see funds dry up; leaders defect; cadres lose morale.

The conclaves will set the political script for the next three years. The NDA will seek to convert its organisational muscle and narrative mastery into an aura of inevitability, transforming victory into virtual veto power. The INDIA bloc, meanwhile, will attempt to stitch together a patchwork of regional resistance strong enough to deny the BJP a clean sweep in the states and keep alive the prospect of a fractured verdict in 2029.

The road ahead is clear but steep. The opposition must fill its leadership void, forge a coherent economic message that speaks to both aspiration and anxiety, and rebuild trust among an electorate growing increasingly impatient with drift and disarray. The ruling alliance, for its part, must guard against the perils of triumphalism. Political juggernauts often stumble when they mistake popularity for permanence and dominance for destiny.

History offers a sobering lesson. Democracies rarely die in a dramatic detonation; they decay through the slow suffocation of dissent and the steady shrinking of choice. Next week's twin conclaves will not determine India's fate. They will merely illuminate how lopsided the landscape has become—one camp marching with momentum, the other scrambling for a map. The larger question is whether the weaker side can summon the will, the wit and the unity to level the field before 2029. Ultimately, Indian voters will decide whether they prefer the comfort of a chorus led by a single commanding voice or the cacophonous vitality of genuine competition. The crossroads has arrived. The choice remains theirs, provided the choice itself survives.

MARCHING AHEAD TO A DIFFERENT BEAT

GEETHA RAVICHANDRAN
Former bureaucrat and author of The Spell of the Rain Tree

FOR the youth today, increased competition, shrinking opportunities and a foggy road ahead are the signs of the times. The impact of unexpected systemic jolts—be it the cancellation of the NEET examination or tightening of visa rules for study and work abroad—is what they have to deal with. The CBSE exam fiasco, which has affected a huge number of students, is another stark example of the challenges youngsters are up against.

Like every generation before them, Gen Y (Millennials) and Gen Z members are scrutinised for their attitudes and responses. Being digital natives, they have a characteristic online presence, within which reside their sources of information and influence. The choice of courses to study, social interactions, financial transactions, shopping and work are all enabled by digital platforms. Their decisions, be it watching a movie or making a purchase, are often shaped by research on social media, which is about recommendations. Thus, they are not merely consumers, but are instrumental in driving demand.

Gen Z workers constitute about a quarter of India's formal corporate workforce. Their behaviour comes in for critical appraisal at the workplace. Rejection of rigid hierarchical structures, choosing conscious 'unbossing' and focusing on expertise over traditional supervisory roles are shaping their career trajectories. There is a paradigm shift in their approach to work. They are ready to switch jobs, go on short-notice holidays and prioritise work-life balance.

In popular opinion, they are considered entitled and even irresponsible. However, their behaviour is also marked by greater engagement with healthier lifestyles, and concerns over mental health and social responsibilities. Their conversations are more open-ended even as they draw their boundaries. They are willing to do side-hustles, pursue interests beyond the 9-to-5 routine. Entrepreneurship is also a preferred career choice as their risk appetite is considerable. They are more politically aware, conscious of issues of social equity and environmental balance.

Most social commentators observe a high degree of idealism in Gen Z. This translates into roles they play in elections and protests. Their digital skills help them campaign for causes and influence people on the need for change. The participation of youngsters in the recent Tamil Nadu elections managed to swing the result in favour of a political novice. Their voice was heard on demands for accountability, creation of more opportunities and inclusivity. Many of them even prevailed upon family elders to vote for change.

The rise of artificial intelligence as a potential competition for jobs in sectors like coding, finance, legal services, advertising and research is changing the contours of the employment landscape. The lack of stability, with a number of employees laid off by Big Tech irrespective of talent and contribution, and replacement of entry-level jobs with AI are causes for concern. At recent graduation ceremonies in the US, students booed those who spoke about the wondrous capabilities of AI.

Elders may consider generations Y and Z to be entitled or irresponsible. But their focus on the immediacy of experience comes amid heightened economic and social challenges. As the recent CBSE fiasco and Tamil Nadu election showed, they are also more perceptive and politically aware

The prediction that India's demographic dividend would drive future global growth had not factored in AI-generated disruption. The readiness to deploy AI in India and the consequential increase productivity are still works-in-progress. Continuous learning, upskilling and reskilling would be the appropriate response. Activating shadow boards in business organisations would give younger employees an opportunity to share their perspectives. Intergenerational conversations could reduce friction and benefit all stakeholders.

This generation embraces the concept of YOLO—you live only once. In the midst of heightened economic and social challenges, they lean on the immediacy of experience that may involve spending, travel and gratification. Traditional behaviour like saving for future goals does not hold much of an appeal. What is valued is the memory or the vibe over material possessions. Kindness and altruism are cool. It is also clear that today's youth have not blindly rejected older cultural values—instead, they have given a contemporary twist to old forms. They have brought in energy and enthusiasm to bhajan-clubbing and have rediscovered the arts of crochet and knitting. Social media is their go-to space and reels and memes their preferred forms of expression.

Gen Z members show great fluidity and speed in responses. As the recent CBSE evaluation crisis unravelled, the sharpest analyses came from students themselves. Their perception and eloquence are indications of their capacity to navigate difficult terrains. Those in authority need to listen to them and bring structural reforms for a fairer education and exam system.

While their choices like backpacking solo or quitting a job without future plans may exasperate family members, it is perhaps a hack to slow down, observe more and take in what life offers. To paraphrase Henry David Thoreau, they are marching to the beat of a different drummer. And they may go farther ahead than the older generation could dream of.

QUOTE CORNER

We know our people have been going through a lot of difficulties throughout the war and we are going there for them, to get the best results for their joy. But it is going to be difficult for us too, because we are also following the news and the political things can, of course, affect our mind.

Basic courtesies

Ref: Do unto others (Jun 6). The editorial is timely. Every Indian tourist should be informed how to avoid such awkward situations. When I was in Melbourne to attend a medical conference in 1994, a South African physician shared the cab fare with me in the middle of one night. I could not get his details in time. In this pre-cellphone era, I put up a message on the conference notice board, following which I met him again and offered to pay—but he declined! All Indians going abroad should have basic courtesy to avoid giving a bad rep to Indians at large.

Earning respect

Ref: Do unto others (Jun 6). The editorial educatively highlights how a few tourists tarnish our image abroad. Outbound travellers must remember they are informal ambassadors of India. I suggest two simple steps: first, airlines and travel agencies can share a one-page etiquette guide on local customs and laws. Second, tourists should consciously avoid loud public behaviour and respect property, as we would expect from visitors here.

'Healthcare journey is of progress, not pessimism': Nadda takes on Kharge

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

Facts matter, outcomes matter, says minister

Nadda, however, acknowledged that challenges remain and the government continues to address them with urgency. "Facts matter. Outcomes matter. NFHS-6 speaks for itself," he stressed.

UNION Health Minister JP Nadda on Saturday came down on Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge's criticism of the Narendra Modi government over public health and nutrition indicators. Highlighting that the National Family Health Survey (NFHS-6) (2023-24) data "demonstrates the remarkable transformation in India's health ecosystem under the leadership of PM Modi," Nadda said, "The real story of India's healthcare journey is one of progress, not pessimism."

In a series of posts on X, Nadda accused the Congress leader of presenting a selective interpretation of the survey findings and said that public health should not be reduced to political rhetoric. "Kharge ji's half-knowledge is dangerous. Public health is too important to be reduced to political rhetoric. Selective reading may serve politics, but facts serve the nation," Nadda said.

Nadda said NFHS-6 data highlights substantial progress in maternal healthcare.

Comparing the latest survey with NFHS-3, conducted in 2005-06 under UPA, he pointed to a rise in first-trimester antenatal registration from 43.9% to 76.2%; institutional deliveries from 38.7% to 90.6%; and births attended by skilled health personnel from 46.6% to 91.3%. "These are not mere statistics. They represent millions of mothers receiving timely care," Nadda said.

He said full immunisation coverage has increased to 87.1%; health insurance coverage has risen from 4.9% to 60.2%; and the use of hygienic menstrual protection has reached 79.2%. "These improvements highlight the difference between years of neglect and a decade of focused governance. The progress is the result of investments in healthcare, nutrition, sanitation, financial inclusion and last-mile service delivery," the minister said.

Nadda's remarks came in response to Kharge's post on X on Thursday, in which the Congress president had criticised the BJP-led government for concealing crucial health data and failing women and children.

15 parties likely to attend INDIA bloc meet in New Delhi on Monday

CPM, JMM oppose Cong ahead of Oppn meeting

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

FILE PIC

AHEAD of the INDIA bloc meeting, rumblings in the alliance deepened as CPM wrote a letter to Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Saturday, strongly criticizing the conduct of the party, the largest in the bloc.

The development comes a day after the DMK announced that it will boycott the meeting to be held in New Delhi on June 8, since the Congress party will be participating in it.

In his letter to Kharge, CPM general secretary MA Baby has sought clarification from the Congress on claims made by some of its leaders during the Kerala Assembly election campaign that the Left party had an understanding with the BJP.

"There was a systematic campaign by the Congress leadership during the Assembly elections, saying CPM and BJP have struck a deal. Further, it was alleged that former CM Pinarayi Vijayan had also struck a deal with Modi. The question posed was 'Otherwise, why is it that he has not been interrogated or arrested by the ED?' These were not stray remarks, but was the centerpiece of your political campaign. Every national leader, Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi, and yourself, made such allegations repeatedly," said Baby in the letter.

Copies of the letter were also sent to other INDIA bloc partners, said sources.

Baby also pointed out that the INDIA bloc was constituted as a broad platform to politically fight the BJP and that parties with diverse ideologies came together for this. He added that the CPM had worked since the alliance's inception to strengthen opposition unity.

Questioning the Congress' position, Baby noted that the party simultaneously partnered with CPM at the national level while accusing it of collusion with BJP in Kerala, and said this could not be taken lightly. Meanwhile, JMM has expressed its dissatisfaction over Congress's decision to unilaterally announce its candidate Pranav Jha from one of the two Rajya Sabha seats from the state.

Leaders of the INDIA bloc are set to meet on Monday at the Constitution Club in the national capital. The Opposition parties are expected to discuss a coordinated strategy on issues such as the NEET row and concerns over CBSE exams among other issues.

15 Opposition parties are likely to attend the meeting, including Jammu and Kashmir CM Omar Abdullah, Jharkhand CM Hemant Soren, TMC chief Mamata Banerjee and Abhishek Banerjee. While NCP is unlikely to be physically represented, according to sources, one of its leaders may join virtually. The Shiv Sena (UBT), is expected to attend.

CPM's M A Baby may not attend the meeting; instead, the party is expected to be represented by a senior leader.

A weakened TMC, a disengaged DMK, and a cautious AAP present a fragmented picture for the alliance.

BEYOND DYNASTY

THE REVENGE OF THE WAITING ROOM

SUBHABRATA GUHA

SOURAV ROY

AT Delhi's Jantar Mantar, thousands of young people have rallied behind the month-old Cockroach Janta Party (CJP), demanding accountability for a series of competitive examination controversies and the resignation of Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan. In West Bengal, 46-year-old Ritabrata Banerjee has emerged at the head of a faction backed by around 60 MLAs, effectively taking control of a decades-old political formation from its ageing but still formidable founder, Mamata Banerjee. In Tamil Nadu, K. Annamalai has quit the BJP to launch what he calls a "people's movement" after building one of the state's largest political followings on social media.

The three developments have little in common politically. Yet together they point to a larger shift. Young leaders are no longer content to campaign, mobilise and wait. Increasingly, they want to shape events themselves.

The most striking aspect of the CJP phenomenon is that many of its visible faces are hardly political outsiders in the conventional sense. Several are products of the same examination system they now criticise—graduates of premier institutions, including the IITs, and in some cases beneficiaries of advanced education abroad. They followed the script that middle-class India prescribes: study hard, clear competitive examinations and acquire impressive credentials. Yet they have embraced the label "roach", a term originally intended as an insult. In doing so, they have transformed it into a badge of survival and defiance.

NEWSMAKER

Their grievance is not merely about jobs or examinations. It is also about access. A generation that did everything it was told to do increasingly believes that achievement alone does not guarantee a voice in the institutions that shape its future.

That sentiment is visible in very different forms elsewhere. Ritabrata's rise in Bengal is not an outsider's revolt but an internal one. His success in carrying a substantial section of legislators with him suggests that political authority can no longer rest solely on legacy, longevity or organisational control. The challenge is emerging from within the system itself.

Annamalai's trajectory reflects another route. A former IPS officer who rose rapidly within the BJP, he built a direct connection with younger voters through relentless public engagement and social media outreach. His decision to step away and launch a people's movement signals a belief that political capital can be converted into a platform outside traditional party structures.

India has witnessed generational upheavals before. The Jayaprakash Narayan movement of the 1970s brought a new cohort into politics and challenged entrenched authority. Decades later, the anti-corruption movement mobilised citizens across class lines, introduced a new political vocabulary and demonstrated the power of social media as a political tool. Both promised renewal. Both eventually produced establishments of their own.

The current moment differs in one important respect. The challenge is directed not merely at governments but at the architecture of politics itself. Younger political actors appear less willing to accept the traditional hierarchy through which influence is acquired slowly and authority flows from the top down.

Technology has accelerated that shift. Political visibility, once mediated by parties, institutions and legacy media, can now be built directly. Followers, volunteers and supporters can be assembled with a speed that older organisations often struggle to match. Legitimacy increasingly derives not only from seniority but from the ability to mobilise attention and action.

Whether these experiments mature into durable institutions remains uncertain. Many movements born in rebellion have eventually come to resemble the structures they set out to challenge. Yet the signal emerging from Jantar Mantar, Kolkata and Chennai is difficult to ignore.

For decades, Indian politics treated youth as a reserve force—energetic enough to power movements but rarely entrusted to lead them. That arrangement is now under strain. A generation long expected to wait patiently outside the room has begun demanding entry. In some places, it is already rearranging the furniture.

'No old baggage': Nepal FM says India most vital partner

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

EAM S Jaishankar with Nepal FM Shisir Khanal in New Delhi on Saturday | EXPRESS

AS India and Nepal seek to move beyond recent friction over border-related disputes, Kathmandu's new government has signalled a strong push to reinvigorate ties with New Delhi, with Nepal's Foreign Minister Shisir Khanal describing India as Nepal's "most important partner" and expressing hope that an upcoming high-level visit by Prime Minister Balendra Shah will mark the beginning of a new phase in bilateral relations.

In his opening remarks during the meeting with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Saturday, Khanal said the new government in Kathmandu was entering office with a fresh mandate and a determination to build a more ambitious partnership with New Delhi.

"Nepal's new government carries a clear and decisive mandate for good governance, economic transformation and result-driven diplomacy. There is no old baggage, only a resolve to build a genuinely transformative relationship with our closest and most important partner, India," Khanal said.

He called for transforming the two countries' centuries-old civilisational links into a modern development partnership. "Nepal has placed the highest priority on its relationship with India under the new government and is willing to engage substantively and purposefully at the highest possible level," he said.

Khanal also underlined India's role as a dependable partner during times of crisis, citing New Delhi's support in ensuring uninterrupted supplies of fuel and fertilisers to Nepal amid global disruptions. Referring to the planned visit of Prime Minister Balendra Shah, he said the "forthcoming high-level visit will mark the beginning of a new chapter in Nepal-India relations."

During the visit, Khanal also met National Security Adviser Ajit Doval and held discussions on a range of bilateral issues, including security cooperation and regional developments.

The positive messaging from Kathmandu was matched by India's response, with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar describing the current moment as an opportunity to fundamentally strengthen bilateral ties.

"India and Nepal share a very special relationship, built on vibrant people-to-people ties, cross-border connectivity, and shared cultural and religious traditions. It is anchored in trust, goodwill and mutual benefit," Jaishankar said during talks with Khanal.

No more differential pricing as sizes of edible oil packs standardised

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

MARKING an end to confusion over edible oil prices due to differential sizing, the Centre has amended the standard operating procedure (SOP) and reintroduced standardised pack sizes. The move aims to enable consumers to take informed purchasing decisions. The edible oil industry association has welcomed this decision.

Earlier, different brands used varying pack sizes and quantities, such as 850 ml, 900 ml, or 800 grams, sold at different prices. Now, the new rules specify that the quantity must be displayed in litres or millilitres (for volume), and the packaging must clearly indicate the equivalent weight.

As of the amendment in December 2023, the SOP has standardised the pack sizes of edible oils and fats under the Legal Metrology framework. The permitted standard pack sizes are 200 ml/g, 500 ml/g, 1 litre/kg, 2 litres/kg, 3 litres/kg, 4 litres/kg, 5 litres/kg, 15 litres/kg, and 20 litres/kg. The government has provided a three-month transition period for manufacturers, packers, and importers to adapt to these changes.

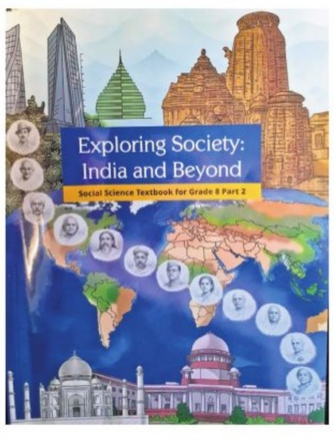
The decision comes after extensive consultations with major industry associations that represent nearly 90% of the country's edible oil sector. The initiative aims to tackle the growing proliferation of varying pack sizes in the market.

The Indian Vegetable Oil Producers' Association (IVPA) stated that this policy change marks a significant step towards eliminating fractional, non-standard retail packaging and establishing a new era of market. "This move will restore structural sanity to retail shelves and level the playing field," said Sudhakar Desai, President of IVPA.

Notably, packages below 200 ml or 200 grams will remain outside the scope of the new norms. Minor edible oils have also been exempted.

Judicial graft purged: NCERT book with reworked chapter this month

S LALITHA @ New Delhi



MONTHS after the NCERT Social Science textbook for Class VIII courted controversy over references to judicial corruption leading to a blanket ban, a revised text with a reworked chapter on the judiciary is set to release by the third week of this month, officials at the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) said. The chapter on the judiciary has been fully reworked with all references to judicial corruption removed, a senior official said. The book, released on February 24, was withdrawn by the NCERT a day later. The judiciary took serious objection to the details on corruption complaints against judges published in the book. The Supreme Court subsequently banned its sale.

Work on the textbook Exploring Society: India and Beyond, Vol II was completed recently by the three-member committee set up by the Education Ministry to rewrite the chapter, said an official.

"They have submitted it to the NCERT head office. The chapter on the judiciary has been thoroughly scrutinised, and any references to corruption have been removed," said another official.

Former Attorney General K K Venugopal, former Supreme Court judge Indu Malhotra and Justice Aniruddha Bose were tasked with redoing the offending chapter. "Though all other books have been released for Class IX students, we have held back both the Social Science Part I and II textbooks. The ministry has cautioned us that there was no room for any controversy in them," an official said. One of the books will be out by June end, while the other could take till August.

Meanwhile, the Hindi versions of all the Class IX books will be released before the end of June, the official said.

Class X and XI books will be released before the next academic year.

After 65 yrs, NCERT library to get ₹205 cr facelift

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

The Ministry of Education has given its approval for the library to be built at a cost of ₹205 crore. We will be floating tenders shortly. The work needs to begin by December 2026 —NCERT official

AFTER the passage of 65 years since its inception, the NCERT headquarters on Aurobindo Marg in New Delhi is set to get a revamped, modern library and documentation centre. Construction of the ₹205-crore structure, which will comprise eight floors, will begin in December this year.

"All the proposals in this connection are through. The Ministry of Education has given its approval for the library to be built at a cost of ₹205 crore. We will be floating tenders to start the construction of the building shortly. The work needs to begin by December 2026," a senior official said, expressing optimism that the library would be ready by December 2028.

The present library, which runs on two floors, is located in the heart of the campus in the G B Pant Block. The new library will come up in the north of the campus, the official said.

"After it is launched, the older one will be used for other official purposes," he added.

The basement of the new building will be fully earmarked for parking. Digitalisation will be given thrust. "We will have an entire floor dedicated to our e-library. NCERT plans to go in for digitisation of the content on a massive scale for its Digital Infrastructure Repository. We are awaiting a high-quality scanner which will help us in scanning all details minutely," the official said.

An e-library is already functional with at least 500 guests logging onto it daily.

"Our resources are used by scholars and students preparing for competitive exams on a daily basis. Students in South Delhi use our campus as a study and research centre," he said.

Rare and old manuscripts and journals available in the library here. "Some of them are one of a kind in the world and are real treasures," another official said.

An auditorium with a seating capacity of 902 that can host national and international conferences is among the new infrastructure initiatives in the pipeline. India's civilisational heritage is promoted through the installation of a statue of Maharshi Ved Vyasa, the author of the Mahabharata, said an official release.

While the UGC declared NCERT as a deemed to be university on March 30 this year, this has not yet been notified. "We will be able to take steps towards finalisation of our courses only after that," said another official.

Rail projects worth ₹1L cr for Bengal

Suvendu Adhikari says state will buy land for infra development, hand it over to Union govt

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

IN a major announcement after the BJP stormed to power in West Bengal, Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari and Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Saturday said rail projects in the state would be fast-tracked, blaming the previous TMC governments for creating hurdles to infra development.

"Railway projects worth around ₹1 lakh crore will be implemented in the state in the coming years," Adhikari said in joint press conference with Vaishnaw at the state secretariat Nabanna. He said his government would buy land and hand it over to the railways for projects. The CM directed district magistrates to prepare a schedule for handing over the required land.

"During the previous Trinamool Congress rule, there was a war-war situation between the state and the Centre. As a result, railway development projects in Bengal had been stalled. With the change in government, that problem will be resolved," Adhikari said. "Every district of West Bengal will be linked through railway expansion. These projects will benefit common people and boost connectivity across the state," he added. Adhikari said his government has already provided 40 NoCs for foot overbridges and underpasses, besides giving land for at least 60 projects.

Vaishnaw said several railway and metro projects in Bengal were stalled for years due to lack of cooperation from the previous TMC government, and asserted that work would now be expedited following what he described as a change in the state's approach. He claimed the railway projects had faced repeated hurdles over permissions, land issues and legal challenges under the TMC regime.

He also said 60 next-generation trains would be introduced for the Kolkata Metro in the next five years. "The previous government had blocked all forms of development. I had said in Parliament that the TMC is 'vikas virodhi'. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has plans for Bengal, and that is evident from the ₹14,205 crore allotted for railway projects in the state. Under the UPA government, Bengal got ₹4,000 crore," Vaishnaw said.

Highlighting the pace of metro rail development in recent years, the minister said the expansion work had accelerated significantly after 2014, when Modi became the PM. "Works for the Kolkata Metro started in 1972. In 42 years, only 28 kilometres of work were done. After Modi assumed office, the projects were expedited. In 12 years, the Kolkata Metro expanded for another 45 kilometres. This is what you call development work," he said.

Vaishnaw said railway development in the state would now see accelerated implementation, including station redevelopment and new services. "Reconstruction of 102 railway stations will be carried out," he said. The minister also highlighted the expansion of premium train services in the state. "Vande Bharat sleeper train and Amrit Bharat train were first introduced in Bengal. Today, 10 Vande Bharat Express and 13 Amrit Bharat trains trains train are operational in Bengal," the minister further stated.

Metro to get 60 next-gen trains, says Vaishnaw

Vaishnaw said 60 next-generation trains would be introduced for the Kolkata Metro in the next five years. "The previous government had blocked development. I had said in Parliament that the TMC is 'vikas virodhi'. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has plans for Bengal, and that is evident from the ₹14,205 crore allotted for railway projects in the state. Under the UPA government, Bengal got ₹4,000 crore," he said.

Maha OBC groups up in arms against move to add Marathas to benefits' list

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

OTHER Backwards Classes (OBCs) in Maharashtra have expressed displeasure over the MahaYuti government's decision to extend all educational facilities and welfare services currently given to the OBC community to students from the Maratha community.

OBC leaders said the government surrendered to Maratha activist Manoj Jarange-Patil by meeting his demand. "OBCs are constitutionally recognised as backward, while the Marathas are a politically predominant community with large land-holdings. Both the communities cannot be the same. The services and facilities given to OBCs should not be given to the Marathas," said Laxman Hake, an OBC leader.

He said the state government's decision to extend OBC students' facilities and services to Maratha students is anti-constitutional. "We want to understand under which law the GR (government resolution) was issued favouring the Maratha community. Just to make one community happy, the state government has taken this lopsided decision. It lacks logic," Hake said. "There are several backward communities who are demanding their rights and funds, but nothing has been done. The state government opened the state exchequer to Marathas because they are a dominant community," he said.

He said the state government should come up with a white paper on who is getting what scheme benefits. "The present government is giving a step-motherly treatment to the OBCs. This is nothing but vote bank and appeasement politics. When elections come, the ruling party leaders talk high about the OBCs, but when they come to power, they forget them," he claimed.

No new IPS officers for the state for now

In the recent allocation of IPS cadres based on the Civil Services Examination, Chhattisgarh has not been allocated a single new IPS officer. According to police headquarters officials, there is a complete lack of vacancies. No active IPS officer is scheduled to retire in the state over the next year. The state currently has a sanctioned strength of 153 IPS posts, which includes 31 posts designated for central deputation. Since the posts were occupied and no new vacancies emerged, the state government did not send a requirement list to the Centre. Hence, the Ministry of Home Affairs left Chhattisgarh out of the current distribution of 147 IPS posts.

BJP govt to upgrade, overhaul 108 schools

The BJP government is embarking on structural reform in the public education sector. A total of 108 government schools have been identified for a comprehensive infrastructure and academic overhaul, bringing them on a par with high-end private institutions. The identified schools will receive modernised setups, and persistent teacher shortages will be systematically addressed. The Directorate of Public Instruction has sought from district education officers the complete administrative setup and exact teacher headcounts for designated schools. The state aims to bridge the gap between public and private education.

Gems & jewellery park set to come up in Raipur

The Chhattisgarh government has approved a state-of-the-art gems & jewellery park in Raipur. In a boost to the industrial, commercial, and basic infrastructure development, a high-level PPP evaluation panel held talks and strategic planning to accelerate the ambitious gems-jewellery park project. A state-of-the-art gems and jewellery park will be established at the Krishi Upaj Mandi Campus at Pandri in Raipur to boost trade, manufacturing, and design in the region. During the previous Congress government, a plan was chalked out to give Raipur a distinct identity with the nation's fourth largest gems and jewellery.

Lalu and Rabri return security cover to govt

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

RASHTRIYA Janata Dal (RJD) chief Lalu Prasad and former Bihar Chief Minister Rabri Devi on Saturday sent back the remaining security personnel, deputed at their 10 Circular Road residence, in protest against the withdrawal of their Z-plus security cover.

The Bihar government has withdrawn the elite Z-plus security cover of RJD chief Lalu Prasad and former chief minister Rabri Devi following a review of the protection provided to VIPs in the state. Meanwhile, RJD workers and leaders, carrying sticks in their hands, have begun guarding Rabri Devi's official residence. A large number of party workers and leaders were seen stationed outside the bungalow carrying sticks and claiming they would protect the Lalu family.

LoP Tejashwi Yadav, who also lives in the 10 Circular Road residence, also returned his security personnel in protest. He did it despite the fact that the government retained his 'Y-plus' security cover. His security remained unchanged because his role as LoP is equivalent to a cabinet minister.

RJD chief spokesperson Shakti Yadav said that Lalu Prasad and Rabri Devi were first deceived regarding housing, then threatened with eviction.

JMM fields senior leader on RS seat, holds name for 2nd amid Cong claim

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) on Saturday announced the name of senior party leader and Latehar MLA Baidyanath Ram as its Rajya Sabha candidate in the upcoming elections. The party had announced on Friday that it would field candidates on both Rajya Sabha seats going to polls in Jharkhand. However, no name has been announced for the second seat yet.

JMM spokesperson Supriyo Bhattacharya announced Ram's candidature, describing him as a prominent Scheduled Caste leader. Ram has served as a minister in the Jharkhand government and vice president of the JMM central committee. He is scheduled to file nomination on June 8 in the presence of JMM president and Chief Minister Hemant Soren. According to Bhattacharya, the decision was taken by Soren.

The announcement has sparked fresh political discussions. According to party sources, the JMM wishes to keep the doors open for dialogue with the Congress, especially when former Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel, who has been appointed as an observer by the Congress, is scheduled to visit Ranchi. Sources hope that there is a possibility of a consensus between the two parties following discussions with Baghel.

Meanwhile, six people have purchased nomination papers so far for the upcoming elections, which include former YSRCP MP V Vijayasai Reddy and Parimal Nathwani. The latter serves as director of corporate affairs at Reliance Industries Limited and is close aide of industrialist Mukesh Ambani. Nathwani has previously served as a Rajya Sabha MP from Jharkhand in 2008 and 2014.

Served as minister in state government

Ram has served as a minister in the Jharkhand government and vice president of the JMM central committee. He is scheduled to file nomination on June 8 in the presence of JMM president and Chief Minister Hemant Soren. The decision to pick him was reportedly taken by Soren.

Whodunnit? 100 Surat homes razed, MLA irked at civic body

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

The municipal team had gone there only for legal line drawing and road margin measurements. No demolition order was issued, no official action was sanctioned and there is no record of such a drive in the municipal files —Vinu Mordia, MLA of local Surat constituency

NEARLY 100 homes were reduced to rubble in Gujarat's Surat in the presence of municipal and police officials, however no government department is willing to own the action. As the bulldozers rolled into the Nasirnagar slum in Surat, displaced families seek answers.

Even the area BJP MLA is asking questions. The controversy took a dramatic turn after MLA Vinu Mordia publicly distanced the Surat Municipal Corporation from the operation. His statement has raised eyebrows because of the presence of municipal officials during the operation.

The MLA of the Katargam constituency has said that he has sought a detailed explanation from senior officials of the corporation. "The information provided by the officials is shocking. The municipal team had gone there only for legal line drawing and road margin measurements. No demolition order was issued, no official action was sanctioned and there is no record of such a drive in the municipal files," Mordia said.

The MLA further questioned how an entire settlement could be cleared with JCB and Hitachi machines in broad daylight if the civic body had no role in the operation. "If the corporation did not carry out the demolition, then who had the courage to wipe out an entire slum settlement? We are investigating who is behind it. It requires a thorough investigation," he added.

Local residents, however, have questioned the role of the Surat Police in the demolition exercise. Eyewitnesses allege that policemen remained present throughout the exercise, while desperate families pleaded for help. Local resident Javid Shah said, "When the JCB machines were tearing through houses and women and children were crying to save their homes, policemen in uniform were standing there. If this demolition was illegal, why did the police not ask for a demolition order or a magistrate's permission? Why did they remain silent spectators?"

Critics argue that if an unauthorised demolition drive was taking place, the police were duty-bound to intervene. Instead, hundreds of people allegedly lost their homes while the law enforcement machinery either watched passively or failed to verify the legality of the operation. Now, demands are growing for an internal inquiry into the role of the local PCR van, deployed personnel and supervisory officers present.

In Surat, even minor unauthorised constructions often attract swift municipal action. Critics are asking how entire houses could be demolished.

Centre tells states, UTs to follow C'garh model on irrigation, water governance

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

Special Secretary (Water Resources Dept) Rajesh Toppo (R) and Secretary V L Kantha Rao (Ministry of Jal Shakti Dept) review the state's performance | EXPRESS

IN a boost to its agricultural and governance policies, Chhattisgarh's innovative strides in boosting irrigation efficiency and water conservation have secured national recognition.

The Union Ministry of Jal Shakti has officially commended the state government's efforts, advising all other states and Union Territories across India to adopt Chhattisgarh's Command Area Development and Water Management (M-CADWM) modernisation model, officials said. Expressing his happiness over this accomplishment, CM Vishnu Deo Sai stated that the recognition reflects the state government's ongoing commitment to farmer prosperity, water conservation, and the scientific utilisation of available water resources.

"This national acknowledgement is an honour for our state's farmers, the dedicated officials and staff of the Water Resource Department, and our unwavering commitment to good governance," CM Sai said. In an official advisory letter dispatched to the water resource departments of all states and UTs, the Ministry of Jal Shakti specifically highlighted Chhattisgarh's proactive approach in implementing M-CADWM projects using its own state resources.

The central communication noted that the Chhattisgarh government has aligned its execution seamlessly with the objectives and guidelines of the national M-CADWM and water management schemes. The Centre lauded it as an exemplary initiative toward maximising the utilisation of created irrigation potential.

The Union ministry added that this aggressive push underscores the state's dedication to expanding its irrigation network, serving as a blueprint for other states to modify according to their regional conditions.

'Flying cat' spotted in Kuno park after decades

The caracal recorded in Kuno National Park through a camera-trap survey | X

IN what Rare "flying cat" caracal has been sighted after decades in Madhya Pradesh's Kuno National Park, which is India's first home to African cheetahs and their Indian-born cubs.

A sighting of the wild cat species, which is native to Africa, West Asia, Central Asia, arid areas of Pakistan and northwestern India, was recorded recently in a camera trap inside the KNP.

The rare sighting after decades at KNP was announced on World Environment Day by the state's chief minister, Dr Mohan Yadav, on Friday evening. The caracal's return is especially important because the species is considered among India's most threatened wild cats. Elated over the sighting of the rare caracal at the KNP after decades, the MP CM Dr Mohan Yadav shared the pictures of the elusive feline, captured during a camera trap survey, indicating the rare wild cat species' return to the forest landscape.

The caracal's sighting at KNP was reported ten months after the same elusive wild cat species was spotted at the Gandhi Sagar Wildlife Sanctuary, three months after the wildlife sanctuary in western MP's Mandsaur and Neemuch districts became the second home to African cheetahs in India.

"Return of the Caracal is not only evidence of the thriving biodiversity of the Kuno region but also reflects the positive outcomes of the state government's efforts towards wildlife conservation in the Kuno National Park," the CM said.

30 raptor, 6 stork species recorded in Kaziranga

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Kaziranga National Park and Tiger Reserve in Assam, famed for its one-horned rhinos, is home to as many as 30 species of raptors and six species of storks, a survey revealed.

The comprehensive stork and raptor rapid survey was conducted in February–March this year by the Kaziranga Tiger Reserve authority in collaboration with researchers from Gauhati University. The report was released on the World Environment Day on Friday. The survey recorded 30 species of raptors with 217 individuals and six species of storks with 266 individuals.

Of the 112 species of raptors recorded in India, nearly 50 have been seen in Kaziranga.

Stress test for truce as Iran, US exchange strikes

Bahrain, Kuwait intercept incoming missiles; Tehran says US endangers regional security, lacks will for stability

Pak minster heads to Tehran for peace push

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan's Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi will visit Tehran on Saturday as Islamabad intensifies efforts to ease tensions between the US and Iran. It will be his third trip to Iran in recent weeks. Naqvi discussed the visit with Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif and earlier met Iranian counterpart Eskandar Momeni in Bishkek. Pakistan has been facilitating messages and talks between Washington and Tehran since an April ceasefire, amid concerns over renewed regional instability and disrupted trade.

Iran denounces political pressure from IAEA

TEHRAN: Iran on Saturday accused the International Atomic Energy Agency of using its latest report as a "tool of political pressure" after the watchdog raised concerns over lack of access to Iranian nuclear sites. Deputy Foreign Minister Kazem Gharibabadi said the Israeli-US strikes on nuclear facilities had hindered inspections and undermined nuclear safety. The IAEA warned that the restricted access posed a proliferation concern and urged prompt verification activities.

CAIRO

IRAN fired ballistic missiles and drones toward Bahrain and Kuwait early on Saturday, Bahrain's government said, adding that they were intercepted. It called on Tehran to immediately cease attacks on Gulf neighbors that it deemed a "serious escalation." Iran's foreign ministry said the US early on Saturday attacked surveillance facilities on Qeshm Island and near Sirik that it said were used to protect borders and "ensure the security of navigation in international waters." Tehran called the attack a violation of the fragile ceasefire.

The latest exchange of fire came as the Trump administration pressed Iran to make a deal to end the war that has strained the global economy and threatened a hunger crisis in some of the world's most vulnerable countries.

The US military earlier said it shot down several Iranian missiles and drones launched toward the Strait of Hormuz and Gulf Arab allies, and struck some of the Islamic Republic's coastal surveillance radar sites in response.

WAR WATCH

"The attack drones posed an immediate threat to regional maritime traffic," U.S. Central Command said on social media. It confirmed it hit radar sites, including an island in the strait, "to defend against further attacks." Iran's Revolutionary Guard said it targeted the Ali Al Salem air base, which hosts US forces in Kuwait, and the US Navy's 5th Fleet in Bahrain, according to the state-run IRNA news agency. The US military said there were no reports of harm to US personnel.

Earlier in the week, Iranian drones heavily damaged a passenger terminal at Kuwait's main airport, killing one person and wounding dozens. The US military kept up its blockade on Iranian ports in response to Tehran's chokehold on the crucial corridor for global oil and natural gas shipments, which has sent energy prices spiking and posed political problems for President Donald Trump's Republican Party ahead of midterm congressional elections.

Despite concerns that the ceasefire could collapse, Trump told reporters Friday that "the situation with Iran seems to be going quite well." AP

3 Lebanese soldiers killed in Israeli attack days after US-brokered deal

BEIRUT

AN Israeli strike on a vehicle in southern Lebanon killed three soldiers, Beirut's military said on Saturday, days after the countries agreed a conditional truce during talks in the United States. Israel has launched an operation into Lebanon to root out the Tehran-backed armed group Hezbollah, which dragged Lebanon into the wider West Asia war by launching missiles on behalf of its sponsor.

Lebanon has vowed that it will disarm Hezbollah over time, but has also denounced Israel's invasion, accusing it of employing scorched earth tactics to drive civilians out of southern towns and villages.

In the latest incident, the Lebanese army said, two officers and a soldier were killed in a strike on a military vehicle on the road between Khardali and Nabatieh. The Israeli military said the vehicle targeted was "moving suspiciously" in "an active combat zone" in an area it had ordered evacuated ahead of operations. But it insisted it "operates against the Hezbollah terrorist organisation, not against the Lebanese army" and added that it was "reviewing the incident".

Hezbollah dubbed the attack a "heinous crime" and accused the Lebanese government of exposing its own country to bloodshed through its "complete surrender to the enemy's demands in Washington".

A ceasefire that took effect on April 17 has been repeatedly violated, with Israel and Hezbollah accusing each other of breaching the truce. A fresh US-backed deal calls for Hezbollah to halt attacks and withdraw from the border area, but the group has rejected it, insisting on a full Israeli pullout from Lebanon. The Lebanese army said Saturday that "the continuation of the deliberate and repeated brutal Israeli aggression... is aimed at thwarting all efforts to reach a solution".

Lebanese President Joseph Aoun also denounced the latest attack, calling it a "flagrant violation of Lebanese sovereignty... despite Lebanon's efforts in the Washington negotiations to put an end to the continued Israeli aggression that goes unchecked". On Saturday, Israel renewed evacuation orders for five villages in Lebanon's south and east, telling residents to move north of the Zahrani River. AFP

Lebanon starts revival of its second airport

QLAYAAT: Lebanon on Saturday launched the rehabilitation of Rene Mouawad Airport in Qlayaat, aiming to open the country's second international airport within months. Transport Minister Fayez Rasamny said the facility, near the Syrian border, could begin operations by November after decades of delays. Initially serving destinations including Istanbul, Dubai and Mersin, the airport is expected to boost connectivity and create jobs in the impoverished Akkar region.

Ukraine showcases deep-strike ability, hits St Petersburg

MOSCOW

RESIDENTS of St Petersburg were told not to leave their homes after a large-scale Ukrainian drone attack targeted Russia's second-largest city Saturday morning, underscoring Kyiv's growing ability to hit deep inside Russia.

The attack came a day after Russian President Vladimir Putin refused an offer to meet his Ukrainian counterpart.

St Petersburg Gov. Alexander Beglov said three people sustained minor injuries in the attack. He advised residents not to go outside and warned of possible disruptions to mobile internet service, while regional Gov. Alexander Drozdenko said 141 drones were shot down over the surrounding Leningrad region in what he called an "unprecedented attack."Russia's Defense Ministry said its air defenses shot down 376 Ukrainian drones.

"Last night, our drones covered a distance of about 1,000 kilometers to the St Petersburg region — to the enemy navy's arsenals and a base in Kronstadt," Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy wrote on X, adding that drones also hit an oil depot in Russia's southern Krasnodar region.

The attack on St Petersburg dealt a fresh blow to Putin's efforts to portray the war as distant. A Ukrainian drone strike set an oil terminal ablaze and hit a nearby naval base hours before the St Petersburg International Economic Forum opened. Putin said Russia would bolster air defences against Ukrainian drone attacks. He also rejected Zelenskyy's proposal for direct talks, saying he saw "no point" in a meeting. Zelenskyy's letter, his first public message to Putin since 2022, criticised the Russian leader's long rule and included jibes about his age.

Responding to Putin's dismissal of the proposed meeting, Ukrainian Foreign Minister Andrii Sybiha said Saturday that things would "only get worse for Russia."

"Failures will get more humiliating," he wrote on X, warning that there are "no safe places in Russia that can be exempt" from Ukrainian long-range attacks, and that the intensity of attacks "will continue to grow." AP

Vance blames migration for UK's 'civilisational decline'

Washington: US Vice President JD Vance on Friday blamed Britain's handling of the murder of a white student by a Sikh man on what he called civilisational decline caused by an "invasion" of migrants.Vance's comments on the case of 18-year-old Henry Nowak sparked a swift denunciation from British Prime Minister Keir Starmer's office, which rejected attempts to "interfere in our democracy." "Henry Nowak died the same way a civilisation dies: abandoned, handcuffed by authorities who neither trusted nor cared for him, and accused of hate crimes he did not commit," Vance said on X. "His murder is as tragic as it is enraging." Vance, a longtime critic of European migration policies, called for "righteous anger" in response to the case. The case of Nowak, who was handcuffed by police as he lay dying after being stabbed by Vickrum Digwa in the southern city of Southampton in December, has become a lightning rod for right-wing anger around the world and sparked riots in Britain. Digwa, 23, lied and told police he was the victim and that Nowak had racially insulted him. US tech tycoon Elon Musk, the billionaire owner of X and a friend of Vance's, has posted numerous times on the platform about the police response to the stabbing.

Pope asks Spain to stop fanning flames of polarisation, urges unity

MADRID

POPE Leo XIV urged Spaniards on Saturday to stop "fanning the flames of polarisation" as he arrived in Spain at a moment of political turmoil for the Socialist-led government and a credibility crisis for the Catholic Church. Spaniards find themselves increasingly divided over issues including immigration, feminism and political corruption, while historically the country was riven by territorial and independence movements.

The American pope, who has Spanish ancestors, travelled to Spain dozens of times as a priest, but this is the first visit by a pope in 15 years. It signals Leo is returning papal attention to Europe's Christian roots after Pope Francis largely stayed away from the traditional centers of Christianity in favour of smaller Catholic communities farther away. Leo is seemingly keen to bring his message of peace, unity and human dignity to a continent sorely polarised over migration, Russia's war in Ukraine and anxiety over artificial intelligence.

Pope Leo XIV is welcomed by Spain's royals at Madrid's Royal Palace | AP

The pope opened his weeklong trip in Madrid, greeted at the airport by the country's Catholic monarchs, King Felipe VI and Queen Letizia, and Spanish Prime Minister Pedro Sánchez. He told reporters, while travelling, that he was particularly heartened by reports of a spiritual awakening among young people in the once-staunchly Catholic but now secularised country.

Leo urged Spaniards, especially political leaders, to set aside polemics and embrace diversity. "Today, the temptation to gain popularity by fanning the flames of polarisation seems to have grown rather than diminished, and human dignity continues to be violated," Leo said.

He appealed to Spain's place at the heart of Christian Europe while recalling its Moorish past, when Toledo and Cordoba thrived as "centers of dialogue between languages, religions and knowledge." AP

Green card pain eased after industry push: Post

WASHINGTON

STRONG lobbying by American business leaders with the US government over its new policy on green cards led to a softening of stance on the issue, with officials dealing with immigration assuring industry leaders that most work visas would remain unaffected, The Washington Post reported.

The pushback from the business leaders, including from technology and artificial intelligence sectors, soon after the US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) rolled out a policy that required individuals working in the US to return to their home countries to make applications for permanent residency or green card.

In the ensuing days, multiple private discussions over the phone and email took place among prominent businesses, industry groups and CEOs with the White House and the departments of Homeland Security, Labour and State, The Washington Post reported quoting people familiar with the discussions. The US Chamber of Commerce was among industry groups that pressed administration officials for further guidance and warned of the harms to their workforce last week, it said, adding that the tech industry also conveyed concerns to the White House.

Late last week, USCIS officials privately told business leaders that most work visas would remain unaffected, The Post reported.

USCIS said most immigrants seeking permanent residency would not need to leave the US, though formal guidance is awaited.

"Business reached out in a straightforward way to the administration to share their concerns about the green card policy," said Jennie Murray, president of the National Immigration Forum, an advocacy group that represents Fortune 500 companies. PTI

Kim inspects North Korea's repaired warship, vows bigger nuke-armed navy

SEOUL

NORTH Korean leader Kim Jong Un observed sea trials of a new warship repaired after a failed launch last year and vowed to accelerate efforts to build a nuclear-armed navy, state media said Saturday, showcasing his expanding military capabilities ahead of a visit by Chinese leader Xi Jinping. North Korea's official Korean Central News Agency said Kim visited the 5,000-ton destroyer Kang Kon on Thursday as it underwent capability tests.

Photos released by the agency showed him accompanied by his increasingly prominent teenage daughter, believed to be named Kim Ju Ae, whom South Korean officials say may be being groomed as his successor.

Kim Jong Un called for "rapidly developing" naval forces capable of playing a larger role in the country's nuclear deterrent and dealing a "deadly blow at the enemy any moment under the water or on the water," KCNA said.

He said the navy was a key focus of a new five-year defense plan approved at a ruling party congress earlier this year, which he said includes building larger 10,000-ton-class destroyers and developing unspecified "underwater secret weapons."

The agency did not report any direct remarks by Kim about Washington or Seoul amid persistent tensions over his nuclear ambitions and a prolonged freeze in diplomacy.

The report came a day after North Korean and Chinese state media confirmed that Xi would visit North Korea on Monday, the latest sign of Beijing's efforts to reinforce ties with its nuclear-armed neighbour. AP

Gulf war hits plantation economy

South's biggest plantation exports tea and coffee are among first casualties of the crisis

RAJESH ABRAHAM @ Kochi

THE escalating conflict in West Asia has begun to ripple through South India's plantation economy, disrupting exports of tea, coffee, cardamom, and other agricultural commodities that rely heavily on Gulf markets. Exporters are reporting delayed shipments, soaring freight charges, insurance hurdles, and weakening demand, raising concerns over shrinking margins and mounting losses for growers and traders alike.

Tea and coffee, two of South India's biggest plantation exports, are among the first casualties of the crisis.

Cherian M George, CEO of Harrisons Malayalam, the largest tea producer in south India, said that nearly 40% of India's tea exports are linked to West Asian markets. "India exported around 280 million kilograms of tea in 2025, one of the highest export volumes in recent years," George said.

According to him, West Asia has become even more important after sanctions and payment issues reduced exports to Iran over the past few years. "If you look at Indian tea exports today, about 40% is dependent on West Asia. That trade has either slowed down or not taken place. The remaining 60% goes to CIS countries, Russia, and Europe, where orders continue despite some delays in shipping and container availability," he said.

The situation has worsened because of disruptions around the Strait of Hormuz and Jebel Ali, the region's largest transshipment hub.

"West Asia is affected very badly. I am routing some shipments through Yemen and then by road to Oman, but these are only small quantities of packet tea. Bulk tea exports are not moving the way they used to," George added.

Coffee exporters are also feeling the heat. Gigi Cherian, a planter whose family once owned nearly 2,000 acres under the Glenburn Group of Estates in the Nilgiris, said the conflict has amplified existing pressures on the sector.

"The impact is already visible in prices and logistics. Freight rates have surged, shipments are taking longer routes, and exporters are facing uncertainty over deliveries. For growers, the biggest concern is cash flow because sales are getting delayed while production expenses continue," he said.

Industry leaders point out that the disruption comes at a critical time for coffee growers, who need liquidity to fund pruning, fertiliser application, and estate maintenance after the harvest season.

Tea remains the plantation crop most exposed to the region. Rajan Sanjith, secretary of the United Planters' Association of Southern India (UPASI), said almost 44% of tea exports were shipped to West Asian countries last year.

"Iraq is one of the largest buyers. If you combine the UAE and Iraq, nearly 100 million kilograms of tea went there," he said.

The fallout is extending to the spice sector as well, particularly cardamom, for which Gulf countries are among the biggest buyers.

Stany Pothen, head of the Cardamom Farmers Federation, said exports to key destinations such as Dubai, Qatar, and Saudi Arabia have slowed sharply. "Most of the cardamom goes to the Gulf region. Dubai, Qatar and Saudi Arabia are our biggest markets. Containers have not gone there, and some ships carrying spices have even returned to Mumbai," Pothen said.

The disruption has translated into a sharp correction in prices. "Demand has fallen, and prices have declined from around ₹2,800 per kg to ₹2,400 per kg. The drop is about ₹400-500 per kg since the crisis began," he said.

According to Pothen, the impact extends beyond cardamom. "Coffee and almost all consumables exported from Kerala have been affected. Exporters are spending much more to ensure shipments reach their destinations, resulting in severe losses."

UPASI president Ajoy Thipaiah said logistics bottlenecks are worsening the situation for exporters across commodities. "Freight rates have gone up by 30-40%. Indian insurance companies are not providing maritime insurance, and there is a shortage of feeder vessels from Mangalore to Colombo, where cargo is transferred to mother ships."

The shortage of vessels has led to significant delays. "My coffee shipment was ready on April 27, but could be loaded only on May 7. In many cases, delays are much longer," Thipaiah said.

Shipping companies increasingly opting for the longer Cape of Good Hope route instead of the Suez Canal have further increased transit times and costs. "Holding costs have become very high, margins have come down drastically, and importers are unwilling to absorb the increase in freight charges," he added.

While exporters are trying to divert shipments to Europe, Russia, and CIS countries, industry leaders say those markets cannot immediately compensate for disruptions in West Asia.

'Insurers not providing maritime insurance'

UPASI president Ajoy Thipaiah said logistics bottlenecks are worsening the situation for exporters across commodities. "Freight rates have gone up by 30-40%. Indian insurance companies are not providing maritime insurance."

POINT OF VIEW

WILL RBI BONANZA BRING BACK DOLLARS TO INDIA?

SUNITHA NATTI

WHEN one door closes, you open another. That's what India just did. On Friday, it unleashed a pro-growth charm offensive aimed at Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) and NRIs to bring home the bacon, aka, dollars.

Thanks to rising energy prices, India's forex war chest is getting depleted with every clock tick prompting even Prime Minister Narendra Modi to appeal to citizens to postpone gold purchases and foreign travel to conserve foreign exchange reserves.

Further compounding the problem, FIIs sold nearly ₹2.5 lakh crore in the past five months making 2026 the worst year on record for foreign capital outflows. The heavy selling along with rising import costs weighed on the rupee, which fell to nearly 97 against the dollar last month.

Early measures

So the RBI summoned India's $2.8-trillion sovereign bond market to raise durable foreign currency inflows, arrest rupee weakness without raising rates and strengthen forex reserves without relying deeply on volatile foreign capital. Here's how.

First, the central bank, besides easing investment limits, opened up the Indian debt market for FIIs to invest in all new bond issuances including long-dated Government Securities (G-Secs). Until now, they were allowed to buy bonds of not more than 10-year tenor.

The government, on its part, exempted FIIs from long-term capital gains tax on bond sales including interest earned on government Securities.

The well-coordinated fiscal and monetary policy moves were pitched as a lifeline amid chronic foreign capital outflows. Interestingly, official sources wheeled out the tax exemption proposal well in advance building up momentum, but when they officially rolled it out, bond markets simply yawned, while equity markets remained motionless.

Critics chanced upon the opportunity to dismiss the measures as nothing but economic band-aid, while ignoring the arterial bleeding beneath. That's because, FIIs are a relatively small participant in India's debt market compared to equities, which are witnessing record outflows. If they offloaded $22 billion worth equities in the past two months, bond market outflows stood at some $2 billion in contrast.

MPC announcement

Friday's bonanza is aimed at attracting dollar inflows and not to prevent outflows, which depend on multiple factors outside their remit such as valuations, and sectoral-growth opportunities like AI rather than tax incentives alone.

Perhaps, the government is testing the hypothesis if foreign debt flows, alongside equity, can double up as a macroeconomic stabiliser. On a cumulative basis, debt inflows are indeed significant. As DSP Mutual Fund data shows, between March 2023 and February 2026, India's net FPI debt inflows stood at $34.5 billion at an average 10-year yield of 6.8% and real yield of 2.8%. What's more, India currently offers strong real yields and with tax exemptions to boot, investors can get even better post tax returns, it added.

India is well aware of the risks and limitations, and instead of solely relying on moody FII flows, the RBI fielded the other faster horse to chase dollars. It allowed PSUs to raise external commercial borrowings and public sector banks to mobilise dollar deposits

But at a time when Indian equities are no longer that attractive for FIIs, and given the government's cautious approach on debt market liberalisation till now, Friday's decision comes across as a bold and ambitious bet to lure foreign capital. Moreover, opening up India's sovereign bond market isn't without risks. Like equities, the bond market too will be subject to sudden and sharp outflows from time to time. Such reversals will make the country vulnerable to external shocks and potentially destabilize financial markets. In fact, the global economy is staring at such a possibility with Japan's anticipated rate hike this fortnight. Interestingly, Japan is the largest holder of US Treasuries and a tight monetary policy in Asia's second largest economy is expected to cause tremors, if not an earthquake in the US bond land.

Above all, analysts maintain that despite tax exemptions and widening the pool of government securities to invest in, FIIs' debt exposure may not materially increase tomorrow though it's likely to yield in the long-term.

India is well aware of the risks and limitations, and instead of solely relying on moody FII flows, the RBI fielded the other faster horse to chase dollars. On Friday, it allowed central government enterprises to raise external commercial borrowings and public sector banks to mobilise dollar deposits — a leaf taken out of the 2013 taper tantrum playbook. While at it, the central bank opened a concessional swap window for ECBs while subsidizing hedging costs for banks making it attractive for banks to go after NRI deposits. Both come with 3-5 year maturities, which means, unlike unstable foreign capital that flees at the slightest sign of danger, the mobilised dollars will remain inbound for a fixed duration.

Together, they are estimated to fetch $35-$45 billion, just enough to plug the anticipated Balance of Payment (BoP) gap for FY27. Right now, India isn't facing a BoP crisis like in 2013, but the measures are expected improve capital flows, stabilise the rupee by increasing demand for INR-denominated assets, improve capital account financing, shore up forex, and strengthen India's position in global bond indices by making Indian bonds investable for international funds.

Tiruppur export revenue falls 5% to ₹42,500 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

TIRUPPUR, India's largest knitwear manufacturing hub, reported export revenue of ₹42,544.40 crore in 2025-26, compared with ₹44,747 crore in 2024-25, registering a 5% year-on-year decline.

The Indian apparel and textile industry is the world's third-largest exporter of ready-made garments to the US. In April 2025, the US imposed a tariff of 66% on certain imports, including apparel products, although the measure was subsequently suspended for 90 days. The uncertainty surrounding the tariff led to a slowdown in demand from US buyers.

"The decline was mainly due to tariff-related issues in the US market and disruptions caused by the ongoing West Asia crisis, which affected global trade and shipping movements. Despite these challenges, Tiruppur achieving exports of over ₹42,500 crore reflects the strength and resilience of the garment industry," said KM Subramanian, President of the Tiruppur Exporters' Association.

Cos slow at creating AI jobs despite increase in adoption

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

INDIAN workers are rapidly adopting artificial intelligence at work, but employers are creating AI-related jobs at a slower pace, with hiring growth remaining concentrated among experienced professionals and specialists.

India leads the world in workplace AI adoption, according to Boston Consulting Group's (BCG) AI at Work report. It found that 95% of frontline employees and 97% of managers and leaders use AI regularly, the highest levels among all markets surveyed.

AI is also changing how people do their jobs. Nearly all Indian frontline employees (96%) said AI has changed the skills needed for their work, while 86% said AI agents could perform at least half of their tasks within the next three years.

Workers are already seeing benefits. BCG found that 70% of Indian frontline AI users save at least one full working day each week through AI tools, the highest share among markets surveyed.

As more employees use AI in their daily work, companies are looking for workers with AI skills. However, hiring growth remains focused on specialist roles.

UPSKILLING

1. Nearly all Indian frontline employees (96%) said AI has changed the skills needed for their work
2. BCG found that 70% of Indian frontline AI users save at least one full working day each week through AI tools

According to Naukri's May 2026 JobSpeak report, hiring for AI and machine learning roles rose 22% year-on-year. Hiring for AI and ML jobs paying more than ₹30 lakh a year increased 27%.

The strongest growth was among professionals with 13-16 years of experience and those with more than 16 years, showing that companies are mainly hiring experienced workers for these roles.

A recent study by the Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations (ICRIER) found that generative AI is changing the skills employers look for and the types of workers they hire, with rising demand for people who can work alongside AI systems. The shift comes as many young jobseekers say it is becoming harder to enter the workforce.

According to Indeed's Fresher Hiring Report, 70% of young jobseekers said finding a first job is harder today than it was three to five years ago, while 72% said entry-level jobs often require prior experience. Nearly half said getting shortlisted was the biggest challenge, and 61% said they rarely or never receive a response after applying for jobs.

Xpheno data from June 2026 Active Tech Jobs Outlook showed hiring demand fell 17% year-on-year.

Ashiana Housing to make 3k flats in Chennai

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

ASHIANA Housing expects the share of the senior living segment to grow significantly in its overall revenue and sales mix, as the Delhi-based realty firm has acquired a series of land banks to develop properties targeted to this specific group. Besides, increasing apartment counts in existing markets, Ashiana is also foraying into newer markets, particularly in the Southern region, to develop senior living housing apartments.

In an interaction with TNIE, Ankur Gupta, Joint Managing Director of Ashiana Housing, said that they have delivered over 3,090 senior living units across India, while around 2,850 units are currently under construction. Talking about key markets, he said that they are looking at developing 3,000 senior homes in Chennai over the next six-seven years, which will add to their existing portfolio of 950 senior homes.

Senior citizen population to grow to 346 mn by '50

According to the JLL-ASLI report, India's senior people population is projected to grow from 156.7 million in 2024 to 346 million by 2050. The demand for structured senior living communities, is translating into a significant market opportunity.

He added that they have about 800 rooms signed up in Bengaluru and have plans to sign another 400-500 rooms. The Ashiana also has plans to enter the Hyderabad market where it hopes to close a deal in the next six months. Besides the Southern market, Gupta sees immense potential for seniors living housing in the Mumbai-Pune region.

"At present, 25% of our revenue comes from senior living housing while 50% come from kids-centric property as it is situated in Gurugram and the rest 25% comes from normal residential sales...This fiscal year we are going to burn our energy in increasing the pie of senior living housing in our sales mix," said Gupta.

To achieve this, the Ashiana has purchased large land banks in recent times. In April, it bought 28.55 acres of land in Pune to develop a senior living housing project with an estimated revenue of ₹1,800 crore. Last year, it acquired nearly 23 acres of land in Chennai to develop a senior living housing project with a revenue potential of ₹1,200 crore.

PRAGG, THE NORD STAR

India GM outshines cream of sport to corner glory at Norway Chess

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Oslo

R Praggnanandhaa being thronged by fans | MICHAL WALUSZA/NORWAY CHESS

ALIREZA Firouzja. Magnus Carlsen. D Gukesh. Vincent Keymer.

Or, in other words, the guy Carlsen anointed as the next Carlsen. The actual Carlsen. The world champion. One of 2026's most in-form players and a former second of the world champion. These were the players R Praggnanandhaa had to beat in the exact sequence if he had to keep his slim hopes of winning Norway Chess. And he had to beat all of them in Classical, ideally. To compound matters, he would be having black against Gukesh and Carlsen.

In a rather simplistic, rudimentary way, this is exactly what Praggnanandhaa did over five days in Oslo. He beat all of them to become the first Indian to win the event in its 14th year. It's an absurd, borderline abnormal run of wins. Here's an illustration. Mehmet Mars Seven, a Game Theory expert with Norway Chess, estimated that the Indian's chances of winning the competition before the seventh round was 0.7%. Per his model, you play the remaining matches in the same sequence over 10000 times, Pragg would win the tournament 70 out of 10000 times. This was one of those 70 times.

Taking only the last four rounds into consideration, his performance rating was 3250.

Genius.

****

Pragg is signing autographs and obliging every selfie hunter irrespective of the demographic. Tamil speakers. Norwegian speakers. English speakers. Marathi speakers. It doesn't matter. It's way past 10 PM inside the Deichman Bjorvika, the country's national library and venue for this year's Norway Chess, but the place is teeming with families and kids, all of them wanting a piece of the first Indian to win this event.

SUNDAY SPECIAL

From nowhere, an automated voice booms out through the fifth floor of the Library. "The Library," it says in Norwegian, "is now closed." Nobody bats an eyelid. The announcement does little to dampen the mood inside. Pragg isn't bothered. His fans aren't too fussed. The young parents do not panic. They are here for him and they are not going home without getting a piece for themselves from this most surreal of Friday nights back with them. The distance between the broadcast studio and the escalator on the top floor at the Deichman is less than 20m. It can normally be covered in under 10 seconds by an average adult human.

The Chennai boy takes five minutes because he is surrounded by people. Kids whose bed times were three hours ago, anxious mothers who were trying to please their kids, men twice Pragg's age, journalists and chess influences hoping for a photo or a video... he can hardly move. He may have felled the king but in those few minutes, he is walking like a pawn.

It doesn't stop there. It spills over to one of the city's most important main roads. On a busy intersection by the pier, traffic lights are subtly ignored by the same cohort. All of them have their phones out as they are recording videos or shooting pictures. There are a few amused locals on the other side of the road. It doesn't even end when Pragg completes the short walk between the venue and the official hotel. Just before entering it, one person calls out his name.

"One photo please, Pragg," he asks. "Sure."

A journalist from one of the official agencies ends up shooting that picture. It was originally meant to be a selfie. You can't blame him. It's that kind of night.

Wijk aan Zee is generally referred to as the Wimbledon of chess. History, prestige, player fields and a permanent place in the calendar evokes a certain aura. Pragg won that event last year in a heart-stopping tiebreaker against Gukesh.

When he was asked whether he would pick this as the best win of his career so far, he said yes. "Winning this is more special," he told the Indian press corps. "I'm overall happy that I managed to come back like this. For me, it's more special that I won a tournament, especially when Magnus is playing. I think this is stronger (than Wijk) in terms of average rating. Certainly, this will come top in my career."

Did he change anything in particular after the back-to-back losses in the middle stages of the tournament? "I think as the tournament progressed, I decided to sleep more," he said. "If you have more time in the morning, you are looking at your computers more and it's just tiring. It's something I decided to do; sleeping a bit later and waking up a bit later. With the games beginning only at 5.00 PM, I have that luxury." If that was an off the board change, one major on the board change he implemented post a manic 2025 was just enjoying chess a bit more. "If this is the version (of me enjoying chess and chilling), I'll take it (smiles)," he said. "This is what I tried to do in Bucharest, and it didn't go well. I just want to take chess more lightly and enjoy it more." He made this change after a gruelling 2025 where he suffered from burn out, something he revealed in a very revealing interaction on the tournament's second rest day.

Coming into the 10th and final round, US' Wesley So was leading by half a point compared to the Indian (15.5 to 15). So, in theory, So was the one who controlled the fate of the tournament. But he played out a drab draw with Firouzja in a few hours.

It opened the door for Pragg, who suddenly knew that he would win the tournament as long as he won his fourth game on the bounce. Standings: Open: R Praggnanandhaa 18, Wesley So 17, Alireza Firouzja 15.5, Magnus Carlsen 13, Vincent Keymer 11, D Gukesh 8 Women: Bibisara Assaubayeva 16.5, Zhu Jiner 16, Anna Muzychuk 15, Ju Wenjun 13.5, Divya Deshmukh 10, Koneru Humpy 9.

Shreyas new leader, Vaibhav gets call-up

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

DAYS before the announcement of the India T20I squads for England and Ireland tours, and the 2026 Asian Games, one thing was crystal clear — the new set-up will wear a completely different look. It was, however, easier said than done. The team led by Suryakumar Yadav had won the World Cup becoming the first team to lift the crown at home. But just like a T20 game, which can change in an over, the squad needs to be overhauled for a new cycle and that's what the selectors kept in mind before delivering a new-look outfit under a new captain — Shreyas Iyer.

While inclusion of 15-year-old Vaibhav Sooryavanshi is a strong indication of BCCI's futuristic approach, the newly-announced squad also highlights how cruel the game can be. Suryakumar, who once was the No. 1 T20I batter given his 360 degrees approach, fell out of favour owing to his poor returns with the bat of late. An equally disappointing IPL season with Mumbai Indians only added to his woes. On the contrary, a highly successful two previous editions (2024 and 2025) and a satisfactory just-concluded season not only propelled Iyer to return to the T20I team after more than two years but also stake his claim for the leadership role. "With regards to Shreyas, we have seen what he has done over the last few years, leading different franchises," chief selector Ajit Agarkar told media after announcing the squads for various tours. "(He) won the final once, and from there a tougher season this year after a great start. We have seen everything that a captain possibly can (handle). His own performances have been really good. He was quite close to getting into the (T20) World Cup squad as well. With Surya still there, there was no room for him, so he is in my opinion a stand-out candidate with enough experience now having led in the T20 format; this is obviously a different challenge," Agarkar added.

The former India pacer admitted it was a tough call as far as Suryakumar's exclusion from the team is concerned. "With regards to Surya, obviously it's a tough one having just won the (T20) World Cup. But as it happens after most World Cups, we try and reassess what your best way forward is," Agarkar said. "(It was due to) partly his own form but also looking at the next two-year cycle, or a little bit more than two years now till the next World Cup, we thought this was the best way forward and like I said, Shreyas is a very deserving captain." Amid the change in guard and Sooryavanshi's much-hyped entry into the team, quite a few changes went under the radar. One of them was pace-bowling all-rounder Hardik Pandya's omission. He played a key role in India's title triumph in the T20 World Cup in 2024 but proved to be a shadow of himself at the home edition this year. Things went from bad to worse for him in the IPL.

Agarkar, however, said they are preparing him for the ODI World Cup. "He is a part of the one-day squad right now in (the) Afghanistan (series). Like Bumrah, if we can get him playing well and keep him fit for one-day cricket - I don't think he's played one-day cricket for a while - that is, at this point, the main objective," said Agarkar. Pandya's last ODI appearance was in the 2025 Champions Trophy, which India won under the leadership of Rohit Sharma. And Bumrah's case looks the same with the chief selector saying he is being preserved for one-dayers and Test cricket.

Gill and Rahul crack centuries as India dominate show on opening day

AGENCIES @Mullanpur

Shubman Gill (R) celebrates after reaching his century on Saturday | BCCI

KL RAHUL'S poise and Shubman Gill's panache produced contrasting centuries as India's formidable batting line-up posted 368 for three in their bid to out-bat Afghanistan on the opening day of the one-off Test, here Saturday. Rahul (100 off 165 balls) showed the value of defence while skipper Gill (103 batting off 143 balls) was intent-personified on a day when India decided to give a batting masterclass in Tests to an Afghanistan attack that was high on spirit but low on skill quotient.

The manner in which Gill batted, it seemed like he was playing a practice game.

The languid approach and the lazy elegance was on view as he held an already tired Afghan attack by the scruff of its neck, hitting 11 fours and a straight six. In his 41st Test, the Indian skipper now has 11 centuries.

The one who would rue missing out on a three figure mark is Sai Sudharsan (81 off 104 balls) despite getting two reprieves while Rishabh Pant was happy smashing three effortless sixes en route his unbeaten half-century. For Afghanistan, Mohammad Saleem (2/67 in 13 overs) was their most successful one.

World Yogasana meet: India keep up good show

AHMEDABAD: India took their gold medal tally to double digits as the hosts continued their domination for the third consecutive day at the inaugural World Yogasana Championships 2026 here on Saturday. Nepal, Japan and United States of America clinched a gold medal each at the EKA Arena here. India expectedly won medals in almost every event, across all age categories. They took their medals tally to 28 medals.

Dream come true for Russian teenager Andreeva

AGENCIES @Paris

Russia's Mirra Andreeva celebrates after winning the final | AP

MIRRA Andreeva won her first Grand Slam title on Saturday by downing Polish qualifier Maja Chwalinska in straight sets in the French Open final.

The 19-year-old Russian beat Chwalinska 6-3, 6-2 to become the youngest Roland Garros women's singles champion since Monica Seles, then aged 18, won her third straight title in Paris in 1992.

With her first-ever Major crown, Andreeva also became the first player, man or woman, born after 2005 to win a Grand Slam. The Coupe Suzanne Lenglen will now take centre spot in Andreeva's burgeoning trophy cabinet, which already features two WTA 1000 titles.

"I've been watching Roland Garros on TV since I was very, very young, so it's also a big dream of mine to win this tournament and I honestly cannot believe that I'm holding this trophy right now," Andreeva said on court, before thanking her team and notably her psychologist. "Congrats to Maja for these amazing three weeks, passing through qualies, winning so many matches, beating so many great players."

Defeat at the final hurdle brought to an end an astonishing run which started in qualifying for Chwalinska, who won nine matches in the French capital to become the first qualifier to reach the final in the Open era. "I will definitely not forget these three weeks," she said. "Paris will stay forever in my heart."

However, the World No 114's career will now be on a different stratosphere as she will climb to 21 in the rankings and be assured of competing regularly in tennis' biggest tournaments.

"Congrats to Mirra, you're such an incredible player. You're so young and talented, it's so annoying," Chwalinska said.

"Congrats to you, congrats to your team for an amazing job, and I wish you all the best in the future. I wish (the spectators) could see a better match today, but Mirra was just too good for me, so I guess it's her fault."

Chwalinska displayed some early nerves as she dumped two serves straight into the net on the very first point of the match.

FINAL SHOWDOWN

Can Flavio cause upset?

Cobolli didn't have to play the semifinal, as his compatriot Matteo Arnaldi pulled out due to illness. The 24-year-old is bidding to become the first Italian man to win the French Open title since 1976, a 50-year wait many expected to be ended by Sinner.

In a time where Carlos Alcaraz & Jannik Sinner were threatening to create a duopoly in men's tennis, the French Open final between Alexander Zverev & Flavio Cobolli offers a breath of fresh air. A look...

Fourth time lucky Zverev?

Zverev will hope to break his jinx in a Major final. He has lost three such matches including one in the 2024 edition. Now, the German has a golden chance to get his hands on title when he faces Cobolli, who will be playing his 1st Major final.

Co-hosts Canada held by Ireland ahead of World Cup

AGENCIES @Montreal

WORLD Cup co-hosts Canada were held to a frustrating 1-1 draw with Ireland on Friday despite dominating their final warm-up friendly before the tournament kicks off next week.

Canada have never won a World Cup game but have shot up the FIFA rankings in recent years and, with home advantage and stars like Alphonso Davies, will be looking to make a real impact this year.

But despite controlling the game in Montreal, and the gift of a first-half Ireland own goal, the Canadians could not secure the win. They conceded an equalizer on the hour mark to Chiedozie Ogbene, who pounced on the rebound from Troy Parrott's well-saved penalty. Playing against an Irish team that will not feature at the World Cup, it was a disappointing result for Canada, especially after a promising 2-0 win over Uzbekistan earlier this week. "Obviously, we wish we could have gotten more goals and gotten the win, but I think the energy from the start, the way to go after the game, the ideas in the game, (were) really good," said Canada coach Jesse Marsch. "We let one counter really get away from us in the second half but, look, overall it is a good performance.

Visa row

ISTANBUL: Iran lashed out at the United States on Saturday for refusing visas to some of its squad support staff as the players were to leave Turkey for Mexico. The row erupted just days before the June 11 start of the World Cup.

Athletics still leads doping list as big names test positive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN another embarrassing moment for Indian sports, at least 24 athletes have tested positive for banned substances in various sports from May 1 to June 3. According to the latest List of Provisionally Suspended Athletes on the NADA, athletics and weightlifting are at the top of the infamy list.

As reported by this newspaper, among those who tested positive was weightlifter Ajith Narayana, who was part of the Commonwealth Games team. He tested positive for hGH, a growth hormone and is provisionally suspended. Interestingly, Harcharan Singh, who was also part of the national camp, tested positive for the same hGH (growth hormone). His sample was collected in March at Patiala. Another camper, Vanshita Verma tested positive for steroids stanozolol and mestanolone. Steroid offence attracts a ban of four years.

DIGITAL EVALUATION

OSM digitises evaluation by scanning answer scripts, anonymising them, and distributing them electronically to evaluators

CBSE introduced OSM for Class 12 examinations in 2026, while Class 10 evaluation continued in physical mode

HOW NOT TO ROLL OUT OSM

SCALE OF THE ROLLOUT

98 lakh Class 12 answer books were digitally evaluated this year

68,000+ Answer books had to be rescanned because of image-quality problems

13,000+ Answer books required manual evaluation because of poor image quality

Numerous students reported discrepancies in scanned answer scripts and concerns regarding evaluation

TENDER PROCESS

- CBSE issued three tenders before selecting a vendor for the OSM project
- The first tender received no bids
- The second tender failed to produce a technically qualified bidder
- Technical requirements were modified in a third tender issued in August 2025
- The nationwide rollout followed within approximately six months

Warnings before implementation

- CBSE conducted a pilot exercise in Delhi in January 2026
- The pilot involved principals, examiners, evaluators, and subject experts from government and private schools, Kendriya Vidyalayas, and Navodaya schools
- Participants identified numerous technical and operational concerns. Two reports were submitted to the Board after the exercise
- Participants recommended additional testing and refinement before nationwide implementation
- Teachers' associations also urged CBSE to postpone the rollout

Structural challenges

- Tens of thousands of answer books had to be rescanned because of image-quality problems
- Preserving the clarity of handwritten responses and diagrams at such scale proved difficult
- Evaluation centres operated under diverse hardware and connectivity conditions despite uniform technical requirements
- Digital evaluation altered traditional patterns of interaction between evaluators and Head Examiners
- Questions arose regarding whether the new workflow affected consistency and quality of assessment

VISMAY BASU @ New Delhi

IN May 2026, an eighteen-year-old Class 12 student made an unsettling discovery. While accessing the digital verification window under the CBSE's newly mandated On-Screen Marking (OSM) system, he found that his physics paper bore handwriting that was not his. Frustrated by silence from official helplines, he took to X. His post went viral, and became the defining moment of a national controversy that has since escalated from administrative embarrassment to judicial challenge.

It is a controversy that cuts to the heart of an ineluctable question facing India's largest examination board: when technology is deployed at a scale affecting millions of young lives, who bears the cost of its failures? While the education ministry sacked the Board's chairman and secretary, there was little compensation for the mental agony of the students.

What's OSM

OSM is a digital evaluation framework in which physical answer scripts are scanned at designated hubs, anonymised to conceal student identities, uploaded to a secure server, and distributed electronically to evaluators. Teachers mark the scanned scripts on computer screens and submit their scores digitally. The system eliminates paper transport, shortens the timeline, and, in theory, eradicates totalling errors and handwriting-based bias. CBSE Examination Controller Sanyam Bhardwaj announced in February last that the board had decided to introduce OSM for Class 12 answer books beginning with the 2026 examination, in its continuous effort to enhance efficiency and transparency, while Class 10 evaluation would continue in physical mode. The promise, as articulated by the board, was a faster, fairer, more transparent system of assessment. However, in reality, it was anything but.

The scale of the exercise was unprecedented in Indian examination history. According to officials, over 98 lakh answer books, amounting to nearly 1.96 crore scanned pages, were digitally evaluated. Of these, 68,018 answer books had to be rescanned due to poor image quality, while 13,583 answer books were manually checked after repeated scanning attempts failed to produce readable copies.

The procurement trail: Hubris before the fall

The origins of this conflagration lie not in May 2026 but considerably earlier. CBSE floated three separate tenders for the OSM system before finally selecting a vendor. The first tender received no bids. The second failed to produce a technically eligible bidder. The board eventually modified several technical requirements in a third tender issued in August 2025, just six months before its implementation. The tender-bender was flagged by a student whistleblower on his blog, which went viral. He subsequently appeared before a parliamentary committee to share his findings. The contract for the digital platform was awarded just 74 days before the board exam began on February 17.

The Board's tryst with digital evaluation is not recent. The CBSE first conceptualised OSM in 2014, before dropping it as contemporary scanners required cutting booklet spines to feed loose sheets into rollers. The plan was revived a decade later with book-scanning technology. The Visvesvaraya Technological University in Karnataka had already traversed this terrain, deploying OSM for engineering semester examinations as early as 2011–12 to curb endemic tampering. VTU's experience offered a mixed preview: result-processing time shrank, but the system drew sustained criticism for poor scan quality.

The warnings that were overridden

The documented trail of warnings that preceded the rollout suggests institutional failure. In January 2026, CBSE conducted a pilot of the OSM system in Delhi involving principals, examiners, evaluators and subject matter experts from government, private, Kendriya Vidyalaya and Navodaya schools. Participants are said to have identified multiple technical and operational concerns and recommended that the platform undergo at least one more year of trial and refinement before national implementation. Two reports were subsequently submitted to the Board. Many of the complaints raised by students after the declaration of results, including concerns over scan quality, discrepancies in evaluation and portal malfunctions, echoed issues highlighted during the pilot exercise. Rather than deferring the rollout, the CBSE proceeded with additional webinars and practice sessions for evaluators.

The Delhi Government School Teachers' Association, too, urged the CBSE to implement OSM from the next session, stating that implementing a fully digital evaluation system without adequate preparation and structured training presents significant practical challenges. The advice fell on deaf ears.

Three structural failures

The problems that surfaced during the evaluation cycle may have reflected deeper structural challenges rather than isolated technical glitches. One issue concerned scan fidelity. CBSE acknowledged that tens of thousands of answer books had to be rescanned because of image-quality problems, while thousands more required manual evaluation. Student complaints regarding illegible scans and missing responses suggested that preserving the clarity of diagrams and handwritten answers at such scale posed considerable difficulties. A second challenge lay in the uneven technological infrastructure across evaluation centres. CBSE prescribed minimum requirements, including specified operating systems, internet connectivity, and uninterrupted power supply. Yet the quality of hardware and network conditions available to schools varied considerably, raising questions about the assumption that a uniform digital platform could function identically across diverse institutional settings.

A third challenge stemmed from changes in the evaluation process itself. Under the traditional system, evaluators worked together at physical hubs and could consult Head Examiners in real time when confronted with ambiguous or unconventional answers. The transition to digital assessment altered these patterns of interaction, replacing a more collaborative environment with a standardised electronic workflow. Whether this shift affected the quality and consistency of evaluation merits closer examination.

The global mirror

The international experience on OSM offers a sobering compendium of lessons that CBSE appears not to have absorbed. In the United Kingdom, examination boards including AQA, OCR, and Pearson Edexcel have operated online marking for GCSE and A-Level evaluations for over a decade. The International Baccalaureate, operating across more than 150 countries, uses centralised digital scanning networks monitored by senior moderators via live dashboards. These systems succeed partly through a practice called item-level marking: scanned scripts are sliced into isolated questions, each assessed by a different evaluator, creating inherent standardisation and preventing any single examiner's fatigue or bias from contaminating a whole paper. A second safeguard is the seed script, a pre-marked paper injected silently into an evaluator's digital queue. If the teacher scores the seed script inaccurately, the system locks them out pending recalibration. Both mechanisms demand sophisticated software architecture, extended pilots, and iterative refinement. CBSE deployed neither at national scale.

Scotland's 2000 debacle under the Scottish Qualifications Authority is the cautionary archetype. In an effort to automate the processing and tracking of new curricular assessments, the SQA's systems suffered a conflagration of catastrophic data failures: thousands of incorrect certificates were issued, and approximately 5% of schools received no results at all on results day. The crisis became a textbook case in the ramifications of deploying complex digital systems at national scale without adequate stress-testing. CBSE's dry-run data pointed to precisely those failure modes, yet the Board chose to go ahead regardless.

Compounding the technical failures is a policy decision that became deeply contentious: the CBSE abolished post-result verification of marks for Class 12 as part of the OSM rollout. It said students would no longer be able to apply for post-result verification of marks for Class 12, confident that improved accuracy would make it unnecessary. The OSM bugs subsequently forced the Board to open the window for verification of scores.

On June 2, 2026, a Public Interest Litigation was filed in the Delhi High Court, to be heard by a vacation bench on June 8, demanding an independent inquiry into the large-scale irregularities.

The way forward: Rectitude over speed

The government has since constituted a one-member committee headed by S Radha Chauhan to investigate the award and procurement of services related to the OSM platform, and submit a report within a month. For OSM to earn the trust it currently lacks, the CBSE must review its position that speed of result declaration is the primary metric of success.

Resolution-specific scanning standards must be mandated, with a minimum 300 DPI grayscale scan for all subjects containing visual and mathematical content, and with automated edge-detection software to flag and reject blurred or low-contrast pages before they reach any evaluator's queue. This is not a chimera; it is standard practice in forensic document scanning and should have been built into the OSM specification from the outset.

Dual-verification checks must be embedded in the submission workflow, requiring each evaluator to confirm a barcode match against an independent physical tally before any script is finalised, making student-profile mismatch errors mathematically impossible rather than merely improbable. Item-level marking and seed scripts, as deployed in the UK for over a decade, must be integrated into the system architecture rather than treated as otiose add-ons for a future phase.

A hybrid revaluation mechanism in which students disputing a scan's fidelity can request physical re-examination of the original script preserved at Regional Offices is not incompatible with digital evaluation. It is its essential safeguard.

The OSM rollout will be remembered as an important moment in Indian education policy because implementation and integration of large-scale digitisation demand multiple layers of checks and balances. Technology deployed in haste, at this scale, on students this young, with stakes this high, is not modernisation. It is recklessness dressed as reform.

WHY SHIFT TO PRODUCER PRICE INDEX IS A BIG DEAL

Transitioning from WPI to PPI aligns inflation tracking with global best practices, modern economic structures and global statistical standards

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

THE Wholesale Price Index (WPI) has been the go-to metric for Indian policymakers to analyse inflation at the producers' end since ages. However, with changing patterns of consumption and supply chains, it became an insufficient tool to capture a realistic picture of the economy, necessitating a comprehensive overhaul. In a sweeping shake-up, the Ministry of Commerce last week decided to retire WPI and transition to a modern Producer Price Index (PPI). The shift, it said, is aligned with global best practices.

The new PPI suite will include three components - Output Producer Price Index (OPPI), Trial Input Producer Price Index (IPPI) for manufacturing and Service Producer Price Indices covering seven major service sectors as of now. The transition is expected to be better aligned with modern economic structures, national accounts methodology and international statistical standards.

The transition will be gradual due to the extensive use of WPI in contracts and price escalation clauses, the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) said. However, businesses will be encouraged to use PPI as the parameter going forward. The government will release both the PPI and WPI data from June 15 for five years till the transition is complete.

Rajni Thakur, Chief Economist, L&T Finance said, "India has gradually moved away from a predominantly wholesale-driven market toward a more integrated retail-oriented system. Such changes are part of a broader transformation that has been taking place across sectors. The adoption of PPI also improves international comparability."

WPI failed to capture reality

Services account for more than half of the country's economic output. As per the Economic Survey 2025-26, released in January 2026, the share of services in the GDP rose to 53.6% in the first half of FY26. Its share in gross value added (GVA), too, reached a historic high of 56.4% as per the FY26 First Advance Estimates, reflecting the rising importance of modern, tradable, and digitally delivered services. India is now the world's seventh-largest exporter of services, with its global share more than doubling from 2% in 2005 to 4.3% in 2024. Yet, WPI tracks only price movement in traded goods, not services.

Besides, supply chains have become more complex as India's manufacturing sector is increasingly dependent on imported inputs. Retail markets have expanded, while the distinction between wholesale and retail channels is also gradually diminishing. Economists have long argued that WPI has become an increasingly imperfect proxy for production costs and isn't the right representation for capturing inflation.

"WPI concept is only for goods which are traded. PPI captures production. Service is also produced, so it is part of PPI," said Principal Economic Adviser, DPIIT, Praveen Mahto. The capturing of both Output and Input PPI explains how inflation experienced by the producer on input items is taken forward to the output.

WPI vs PPI

In India, WPI is similar to Output PPI. Both are compiled on the basis of prices received by the producers. The difference lies in the weightage. While in WPI, weights are based on Gross Value of Output (GVO) estimates taken from National Accounts at a broad sectoral level, in Output PPI, the weighting diagram is based on Supply Table of National Accounts.

Input PPI is different from WPI on the concept of price itself. WPI is based on Basic Price while Input PPI is based on the Purchaser's Price.

Output PPI is compiled on the basis of prices received by the producer. This price is called Basic Price, which does not include Net Tax and Trade and Transport Margin. On the other hand, Input PPI is compiled on the basis of prices paid by the producers to buy input items. This price is called Purchaser's Price, which includes the Trade and Transport Margin.

Getting rid of double counting

Calculating India's real, inflation-adjusted manufacturing GDP has always been an exercise in approximation. Since there was no dedicated input price index, National Accounts often used the headline WPI to deflate both factory revenues and input costs. It threw up distorted growth figures during volatile commodity cycles due to double counting. Double counting is the inflationary distortion caused when the price of the same commodity is counted at multiple stages of production within the index. This happens when intermediate goods (input) and final goods (output) are both independently included in the price index.

The new structure avoids one of the longstanding challenges of double counting. Under the PPI framework, Output PPI weights are derived from the Supply Table, while Input PPI weights come from the Use Table. Thus, there will be a coherent system for tracking prices entering production and prices emerging from production.

"The fact that they are providing output and input separately is critical," said Gaura Sengupta, Chief Economist at IDFC FIRST Bank. "Under the new GDP methodology, you have a 'double deflation' method where you separately deflate the revenue side and the input side using their respective deflators."

"For the private sector, the new system will help us estimate real growth rates for manufacturing significantly better," Sengupta added.

Under the PPI framework, a commodity such as crude oil will be counted directly and then effectively counted again through petroleum products derived from it, DPIIT said. This will reduce the distortions in figures and produce a more accurate picture of inflation pressures.

Going forward, even if input costs rise sharply while output prices remain stable, producers may absorb the increase through lower profit margins. Conversely, strong pricing power may allow firms to pass higher costs directly to customers. The separate publication of Input and Output PPIs allows analysts to observe those dynamics in real time.

Impact on consumer prices

Producer costs and consumer prices do not always move in sync. At times of global energy shocks, supply chain disruptions and commodity price volatility, the production costs go up sharply. However, there is no immediate impact on the consumer price.

In such situations, margins rather than prices become the shock absorber. Rajni Thakur reckons that PPI is particularly useful for understanding these developments. "We are already seeing evidence of this dynamic in several sectors where input costs have risen, while retail prices have remained unchanged. In such cases, manufacturers are effectively absorbing the higher costs, which may eventually be reflected in profit margins at a later stage. Therefore, PPI serves as a stronger tool for economic signalling," said Thakur.

Capturing the services sector

WPI did not just ignore services; it omitted other major sectors like telecommunications and financial logistics. The PPI architecture corrects the anomaly by introducing a dedicated Service PPI. Compiled quarterly, the first phase debuts on June 15 with provisional data for the fourth quarter of 2025-26, supported by a historical back-series from the first quarter of 2023-24.

The first phase leverages administrative data pipelines to track price movements across seven service pillars - banking and management of pension funds, securities transaction and insurance, telecom, railways and air passenger transport. More services will join the basket in subsequent phases.

THE POWER OF ENGINEERING

A SPACE MARKETING INITIATIVE

2026 Engineering Education Redefined by AI

Karnataka's engineering colleges are leading India's AI-driven education revolution, preparing students with future-ready skills in automation, data science, cybersecurity and emerging technologies.

India's engineering landscape is undergoing a dramatic transformation. No longer confined to classrooms filled with theoretical formulas and traditional lab work, engineering education in 2026 is becoming smarter, faster and deeply integrated with Artificial Intelligence (AI), automation and data-driven technologies. At the heart of this transformation stands Karnataka - particularly Bengaluru - widely regarded as India's technology capital and one of the country's strongest engineering education hubs.

With more than 270 engineering institutions, Karnataka continues to attract students from across India seeking future-ready careers. Courses such as Computer Science Engineering (CSE), Artificial Intelligence & Machine Learning (AI/ML), Electronics & Communication Engineering (ECE), Data Science and Cybersecurity are now dominating student preference lists because of their strong placement potential and global relevance.

ENGINEERING IN 2026: NOT JUST THEORY, BUT TRANSFORMATION

The future engineer is no longer expected to simply understand machines or structures. Today's engineers are expected to work alongside intelligent systems, analyse large datasets, automate processes and solve real-world problems using AI-assisted tools.

Engineering colleges are rapidly shifting from rote learning to industry-integrated education models. AI labs, robotics centres, cloud computing platforms and startup incubation cells are becoming standard infrastructure in leading institutions.

DATA SCIENCE & BIG DATA

Data has become the backbone of decision-making across industries. Engineers trained in analytics, predictive modelling and business intelligence are witnessing huge demand globally.

CYBERSECURITY ENGINEERING

As digital threats increase, companies are heavily investing in information security. Ethical hackers, cybersecurity analysts and digital forensics experts are among the most in-demand professionals today.

ROBOTICS & AUTOMATION

Factories, hospitals, logistics and even agriculture are embracing automation. Robotics engineers are creating intelligent systems that improve productivity and efficiency.

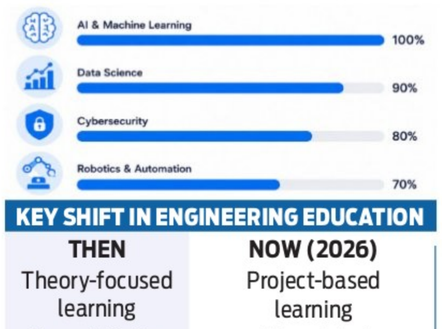
WHY KARNATAKA LEADS ENGINEERING EDUCATION

Karnataka Advantage

- Over 270 engineering institutions
- Bengaluru: India's startup and AI capital
- Strong industry-academia partnerships
- Global tech companies driving placements
- Growing R&D ecosystem in aerospace and biotech

Leading Institutions

- NITK Surathkal
- RV College of Engineering
- PES University
- IIIT Bengaluru
- BMS College of Engineering



KEY SHIFT IN ENGINEERING EDUCATION

TOP ENGINEERING COURSES DOMINATING 2026

COMPUTER SCIENCE & AI

Still the most sought-after branch, CSE has evolved into an AI-powered discipline. Students now specialise in:

- Artificial Intelligence
- Machine Learning
- Data Science
- Cybersecurity
- Cloud Computing

AI engineers, ML specialists and data scientists are among the highest-paid professionals in the industry today.

ELECTRONICS & COMMUNICATION ENGINEERING (ECE)

ECE continues to thrive because of:

- 5G expansion
- IoT devices
- Smart communication systems
- Embedded technologies

This branch now combines hardware innovation with software intelligence.

WHY AI ENGINEERING IS THE BIGGEST GAME-CHANGER

Artificial Intelligence is no longer just a specialised subject - it is becoming the foundation of engineering itself. AI-powered systems are now used in:

HEALTHCARE DIAGNOSTICS | AUTONOMOUS VEHICLES
SMART CITIES | CLIMATE MONITORING
FINANCE & FRAUD DETECTION | MANUFACTURING AUTOMATION

Experts believe engineers who understand AI will dominate future workplaces.

THE RISE OF HYBRID ENGINEERS

The engineer of tomorrow will not belong to just one domain. Civil engineers are learning AI-driven predictive modelling. Mechanical engineers are working with robotics and automation. Environmental engineers are using AI for climate analytics and smart energy systems. This multidisciplinary approach is becoming the defining feature of engineering education in 2026.

QUICK FACTS INDIA'S AI BOOM

- AI market expected to reach massive global scale by 2030
- AI-related jobs growing over 30% annually in India
- Fresh AI graduates can earn ₹6–10 LPA
- Experienced AI professionals earn ₹25 LPA and beyond

FINAL WORD

Engineering is no longer about memorising equations alone — it is about building intelligent solutions for a rapidly changing world. As industries embrace automation, sustainability and digital transformation, future engineers must combine technical excellence with adaptability and innovation.

For students stepping into higher education in 2026, engineering remains one of the most powerful pathways to shape not only successful careers but also the future of humanity itself.

Ghousia College of Engineering

A legacy of excellence in engineering education and innovation

Established in 1980, Ghousia College of Engineering (GCE), Ramanagara, has grown into one of Karnataka's premier minority engineering institutions, known for its strong academic foundation, technical excellence and value-based education. Over the decades, the institution has consistently upheld high standards in engineering education while nurturing competent professionals capable of meeting the demands of modern industry and society.

Affiliated to Visvesvaraya Technological University and approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), New Delhi, the institution is also accredited by NAAC and NBA. These recognitions reflect the college's commitment to quality education, innovation and continuous academic improvement.

Located in Ramanagara, approximately 45 kilometers from Bengaluru on the Bengaluru–Mysore National Highway (NH-275), the institution is spread across a sprawling 35-acre eco-friendly campus. The serene surroundings, modern infrastructure and student-friendly environment together create an ideal atmosphere for higher learning and holistic development.

Modern infrastructure for quality learning

Ghousia College of Engineering provides state-of-the-art infrastructure designed to support academic excellence and practical learning. The campus is equipped with:

- Modern laboratories
- Smart classrooms
- Advanced computing facilities
- Seminar halls
- Workshops
- Dedicated research spaces

The institution also houses a well-stocked central library featuring an extensive collection of books, journals, reference materials and digital learning resources. Students and faculty benefit from access to e-journals and research databases through the VTU Consortium, helping them stay updated with emerging technologies and global academic developments.

Diverse academic programmes

The institution offers Diploma, Undergraduate and Postgraduate programmes across various disciplines of Engineering, Management and Computer Applications.

Diploma programmes include:

- Civil Engineering
- Electrical & Electronics Engineering
- Electronics & Communication Engineering
- Computer Science & Engineering

By offering programmes at multiple academic levels, the institution creates strong pathways for technical education and career advancement.

The college continuously upgrades its curriculum support systems and laboratory facilities to align with current technological advancements and industry expectations. Ghousia College of Engineering has also embraced Outcome Based Education (OBE), focusing on skill-oriented and application-based learning approaches.

Focus on innovation and research

Innovation and research form a vital part of the institution's academic culture. Ghousia College of Engineering actively promotes:

- Research activities
- Entrepreneurship
- Skill development
- Industry interaction
- Innovation-driven learning

Faculty members and students regularly publish research papers, participate in conferences and undertake innovative academic projects.

Several faculty members have earned Ph.D. degrees and are recognized as Research Supervisors under VTU.

The institution also encourages students to engage in project-based learning, technical problem-solving and research-oriented activities that prepare them for future technological challenges.

Academic and professional development initiatives

In recent years, the institution has organized several academic and professional development programmes aimed at enhancing technical knowledge and global exposure.

These include:

- Faculty Development Programmes (FDPs)
- International seminars
- AI and IoT workshops
- Intellectual Property Rights awareness programmes
- Entrepreneurship initiatives under the Institution's Innovation Council (IIC)
- Expert lectures by academicians and industry professionalsA major recent achievement was the successful organization of a Three-Day INDO–US Workshop on "Hazardous Materials Management using AI Tools" in February 2026 in association with international experts and the ACHMM–India Chapter.

The workshop focused on:

- AI applications in safety management
- Hazardous waste management
- Environmental sustainability
- Global safety practices

The institution has also hosted intercollegiate technical fests, hackathons and project expos that encourage creativity, innovation and practical engineering solutions among students.

VISION AND MISSION

Vision

To become an excellent engineering institution producing world-class engineers capable of adapting to changing technologies while instilling strong character, human values and responsible citizenship.

Mission

To provide state-of-the-art infrastructure, quality technical education, research opportunities, consultancy and co-curricular activities essential for the holistic development of students.

BUILDING ENGINEERS FOR A CHANGING WORLD

With more than four decades of academic excellence, Ghousia College of Engineering continues to play a significant role in shaping future engineers and innovators. By combining strong technical education with research, innovation, ethical values and holistic student development, the institution has established itself as a respected center for engineering education in Karnataka. As industries continue to evolve in the era of Artificial Intelligence, automation and digital transformation, Ghousia College of Engineering remains committed to preparing students with the knowledge, skills and confidence required to succeed in a competitive global environment.

THE POWER OF ENGINEERING

AI. Automation. Innovation.

Ethics: The Foundation Upon Which Engineering Stands

Engineering has never been merely about machines, structures, software or calculations. At its core, engineering is about responsibility. Every bridge constructed, every aircraft designed, every medical device manufactured and every digital system deployed directly affects human lives. Because of this enormous influence, ethics remains one of the most indispensable pillars of engineering.

An engineer's work extends far beyond technical execution. Decisions taken in laboratories, offices, construction sites and manufacturing units eventually shape societies, economies and even the environment. A single ethical lapse can trigger devastating consequences. Structural collapses, industrial disasters and unsafe systems across history have repeatedly shown that technical brilliance without ethical grounding can become dangerous.

Why Public Trust Matters

Public trust is perhaps the strongest reason ethics matters in engineering. Society places enormous faith in engineers without always understanding the technical complexities behind their work. When people drive across flyovers, enter elevators, board airplanes or use medical technologies, they assume these systems are safe and reliable.

That trust exists because engineering is expected to operate within strict ethical boundaries. Once that trust is broken, rebuilding confidence becomes extremely difficult. Engineers therefore carry a moral obligation to ensure that public welfare always remains their highest priority.

Safety Above Everything Else

Safety forms the heart of engineering ethics. Every engineering decision involves some degree of risk management. Engineers constantly assess materials, durability, operational conditions, structural strength and system behaviour to minimise hazards.

Ethical engineers understand that cutting corners for speed, convenience or profit can endanger lives. A poorly designed building or defective industrial system is not merely a technical failure. It becomes a moral failure. This is why engineering codes across the world emphasise that public safety must never be compromised under any circumstance.

Workplace safety also has strong economic implications. Organisations that prioritise ethical safety practices often reduce operational losses, legal liabilities and accident-related expenses while improving productivity and employee confidence.

Ethics and Quality Go Together

Engineering ethics also plays a major role in ensuring quality. Competence and honesty are deeply interconnected. Ethical engineers accept assignments only within their expertise and seek guidance when necessary.

This culture of accountability improves project quality and reduces costly errors. Organisations that encourage ethical behaviour generally produce more reliable systems because employees feel responsible not only to employers but also to society at large.

In leadership roles, this becomes even more important. Modern engineering leaders may supervise experts from multiple disciplines. Their responsibility lies not in personally doing every task but in creating systems that allow specialists to perform their best work with integrity and transparency.

Honest Communication Builds Credibility

Engineers frequently interact with governments, corporations, regulators, investors and the public. Inaccurate reporting, manipulated data or misleading claims can have severe consequences.

Ethical engineering requires professionals to communicate honestly and objectively. Reports, designs, safety evaluations and technical statements must remain truthful and free from exaggeration or misrepresentation. In sectors such as healthcare, aviation, infrastructure and energy, even small distortions of information can result in enormous damage.

Clear and ethical communication also improves public perception of the engineering profession. In an era where trust and transparency are increasingly valued, engineers who communicate responsibly strengthen the credibility of the entire industry.

Sustainability and Long-Term Thinking

The importance of ethics has grown significantly in the age of climate change and environmental concerns. Engineers today are expected to think beyond immediate commercial gains and consider long-term environmental impact.

Sustainable engineering involves designing systems that minimise waste, conserve resources and reduce environmental harm. Ethical engineers recognise that development should not come at the cost of ecological destruction.

Whether in renewable energy, sustainable construction, water management or transportation, engineering decisions now play a crucial role in protecting the planet for future generations. Ethical responsibility therefore extends beyond present-day performance to include long-term societal and environmental consequences.

Protecting Professional Integrity

Engineering ethics also safeguards organisations and professionals themselves. Companies depend heavily on intellectual property, confidential information and proprietary technologies. Ethical engineers respect ownership agreements and protect sensitive information responsibly.

Similarly, ethical conduct discourages unfair practices such as damaging competitors through misinformation or manipulating evaluations for personal advancement. Professional respect and fairness help create healthier workplaces and stronger industry standards.

Importantly, ethical frameworks also protect engineers from external pressures. In competitive environments, professionals may sometimes be asked to compromise standards or overlook safety concerns. Ethical principles empower engineers to resist such pressures and uphold professional integrity even in difficult situations.

Ethical Leadership in Modern Engineering

Today's engineering leaders are expected to do far more than supervise technical operations. They are responsible for building workplace cultures rooted in fairness, accountability and respect.

Ethical leadership encourages open communication, professional trust and long-term thinking. Employees perform more effectively when they believe decisions are guided by principles rather than politics or personal gain.

As technology rapidly evolves through artificial intelligence, automation, biotechnology and cybersecurity, ethical leadership becomes even more critical. Engineers are no longer only building products. They are shaping human behaviour, privacy systems and social structures. This makes ethical awareness essential to responsible innovation.

The Future of Engineering Depends on Ethics

Educational institutions increasingly recognise that ethics cannot remain secondary in engineering education. Technical knowledge alone is insufficient. Future engineers must also understand professional accountability, ethical reasoning and social responsibility.

Ultimately, engineering shapes the physical and technological backbone of civilisation. Roads, hospitals, communication systems, transportation networks and digital infrastructure all emerge from engineering decisions. Because these systems influence millions of lives, ethics cannot remain optional.

A technically skilled engineer may create extraordinary systems, but without ethics, those achievements lose their value. Ethical engineering ensures that innovation serves humanity responsibly, safely and sustainably. In a world increasingly driven by technology, ethics is not merely an accessory to engineering. It is the very foundation upon which the profession stands.

Mysore College Of Engineering And Management (Mycem)

Established in 2015 under Janana Vaahini Shikshana Samsthe, Mysore College of Engineering and Management (MyCEM) has emerged as a promising institution for technical education in Karnataka. Located in Chikkahalli, Mysuru, the institution is approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) and affiliated to Visvesvaraya Technological University. Over the years, MyCEM has built a strong reputation for delivering quality education, industry-oriented learning and holistic student development.

With a student strength of nearly 1,200, supported by 65 faculty members and 30 supporting staff, the institution continues to provide a dynamic learning environment that encourages innovation, discipline and professional growth.

Modern Infrastructure & Faculty Development

The institution provides excellent infrastructure with modern laboratories, smart classrooms, seminar halls and technical facilities that support practical learning. MyCEM strongly focuses on faculty development through continuous training programmes, workshops, seminars and research initiatives.

Faculty members have actively contributed to academic research by publishing papers in reputed Scopus-indexed journals and presenting research at conferences. This commitment helps educators stay aligned with emerging technologies and industry trends.

Empowering Future Engineers Through Innovation and Excellence

Academic Excellence

The institution has consistently maintained strong academic performance in VTU examinations. Students have secured distinctions across various departments, reflecting the college's focus on academic discipline and quality education.

A major achievement came when a student from the Civil Engineering department secured a prestigious Gold Medal in the VTU examination, bringing recognition to the institution. Adding to this success, MyCEM recorded an impressive 100% final-year result this year, highlighting its commitment to student achievement and academic excellence.

INDUSTRY-ORIENTED LEARNING

MyCEM emphasizes practical education through:

- Project-based learning
- Internships
- Industrial visits
- Technical workshops
- Guest lectures by industry experts

This approach enables students to gain real-world exposure and improve their problem-solving and technical skills. Students also participate in national-level competitions and industrial interaction programmes, helping them build confidence beyond classrooms.

Placement & Career Support

MyCEM has a dedicated placement cell focused on preparing students for successful careers through technical training, aptitude development and soft skills enhancement.

Why choose MyCEM?

- Modern infrastructure and laboratories
- Experienced and supportive faculty
- Industry-oriented curriculum
- Practical learning approach
- Strong placement assistance
- Skill development programmes
- Focus on innovation and research

Holistic Development

Beyond academics, MyCEM encourages students to participate in sports, cultural events, technical fests and leadership activities. These opportunities help students develop communication, teamwork and leadership skills essential for professional success. The institution also maintains an active alumni association that strengthens the bond between past and present students while contributing to institutional growth.

Building Engineers of Tomorrow

With a strong academic foundation, modern facilities and a focus on innovation, Mysore College of Engineering and Management continues toprepare students for successful engineering careers. By combining technical knowledge with practical exposure and holistic development, MyCEM is shaping future-ready professionals capable of contributing meaningfully to society and industry.

MYSURU ROYAL INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY (MRIT)

ENGINEERING EXCELLENCE | INNOVATION | INDUSTRY READINESS

Established in 2015 under the aegis of the Mysore Royal Educational Trust (MRET), Mysuru Royal Institute of Technology (MRIT) has emerged as a promising centre for quality technical education. With a strong focus on academic excellence, ethical values, and professional competence, MRIT is committed to nurturing future-ready engineers and responsible citizens.

Legacy of Excellence

MRIT was founded with the vision of bridging the gap between academic learning and industry expectations. Over the years, the institution has steadily evolved through modern teaching methodologies, updated curricula, and continuous infrastructural development. Today, MRIT stands as a dynamic institution dedicated to empowering students with knowledge, innovation, and leadership skills.

Academic Programs

MRIT offers a wide spectrum of career-oriented programs, including:

- Undergraduate Engineering (BE) programs across multiple disciplines
- Postgraduate Management (MBA) programs
- Industry-oriented certification and skill development courses
- Research and innovation opportunities in emerging domains

Outcome-Based Education

Committed to Outcome-Based Education (OBE), MRIT integrates practical exposure with academic learning through internships, workshops, industrial interactions, and project-based training. The institution equips students with critical thinking, technical expertise, and problem-solving capabilities essential for the evolving global landscape.

Infrastructure & Innovation

The campus features modern laboratories, smart classrooms, advanced research facilities, and a vibrant academic ecosystem that promotes creativity and interdisciplinary learning. MRIT actively encourages research initiatives and innovation-driven projects among students and faculty.

Leadership & Vision

MRIT continues to strengthen its academic mission under the guidance of dedicated educational leaders and administrators who believe in holistic development and institutional growth.

Mrs. Nandini Murthy

THE POWER OF ENGINEERING

Maharaja Education Trust: Transforming Education Through Vision, Values, and Innovation

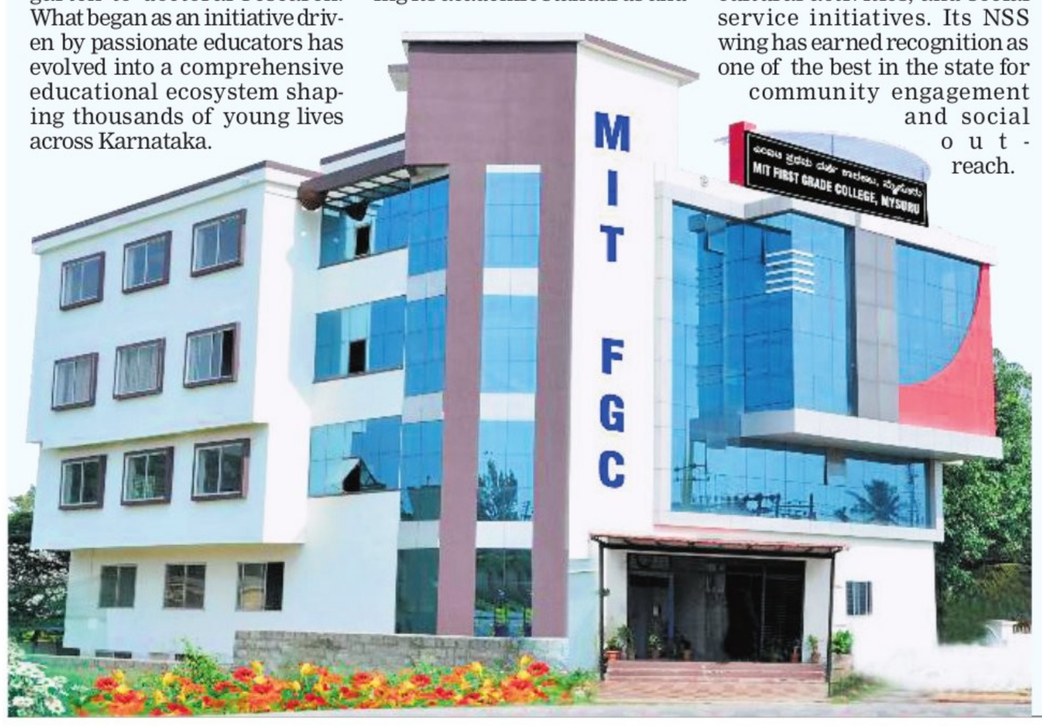
In India, education has always been more than a system of learning. It has been a tradition rooted in values, discipline, and social responsibility. Carrying forward this legacy in Mysuru is the Maharaja Education Trust (R) (MET), an institution founded and guided by a group of eminent teachers who believed that education must be student-centric, transformative, and socially relevant.

Established with a vision to nurture talent across disciplines, MET today stands as one of the region's most respected educational networks, managing institutions that span from kindergarten to doctoral research. What began as an initiative driven by passionate educators has evolved into a comprehensive educational ecosystem shaping thousands of young lives across Karnataka.

One of the trust's flagship institutions is the Maharaja Institute of Technology Mysore (MITM), established in 2007. Founded by eight dedicated academicians, MITM was envisioned as a centre that would combine technical excellence with holistic development. Over the years, the institution has carved a niche in engineering education through strong academic performance, modern infrastructure, and student-focused learning methods.

The institute has produced multiple university rank holders and gold medalists, reflecting its academic standards and disciplined approach to teaching. With more than 4,000 students and over 350 faculty and staff members, MITM today offers undergraduate programmes across eleven engineering streams, including emerging areas such as Artificial Intelligence, Machine Learning, Data Science, and Computer Science specialisations. It also offers postgraduate programmes in MBA, MCA, and M.Tech, along with robust Ph.D. research opportunities.

Beyond academics, MITM places strong emphasis on all-round student development. Students actively participate in sports, technical competitions, cultural activities, and social service initiatives. Its NSS wing has earned recognition as one of the best in the state for community engagement and social outreach.



The institution's infrastructure reflects its commitment to accessibility and student welfare. Nearly 100 buses provide transportation connectivity across an 80-kilometre radius, while separate hostels for men and women support students from rural and distant regions. A dedicated placement and training department equips students with career readiness from the first year itself, resulting in excellent placement records and internship opportunities even during challenging periods such as the Covid pandemic.

Innovation remains central to the institution's philosophy. MITM has adopted modern teaching practices including technical tours, expert sessions, recording studios, and digital learning initiatives.

Through its YouTube educational platform JanaMITra, thousands of lectures are made freely accessible to students across the globe, extending knowledge far beyond classroom walls.

MET's contribution to education extends well beyond engineering. Recognising the need for stronger foundational learning, the trust established GSI PU College in 2008 to prepare students for higher education and competitive examinations. Today, the institution supports students from kindergarten to pre-university levels, producing excellent results in CET, NEET, and JEE examinations.

> Looking ahead, MET plans to establish a law college and an institute for naturopathy and yogic sciences, further broadening its educational footprint. Spread across a sprawling campus in Mysuru, Maharaja Education Trust today represents more than a collection of institutions. It represents a philosophy — that education must empower individuals, strengthen society, and prepare future generations for meaningful lives. From kindergarten classrooms to advanced research centres, MET continues to build an ecosystem where learning, innovation, discipline, and social responsibility go hand in hand.

To further strengthen competitive exam preparation, MET launched Sankalpa, an integrated coaching centre designed to help students pursue careers in medicine, engineering, and other professional fields. The trust also established Jnanadhwani, a community radio initiative promoting educational awareness and lifelong learning among students and the broader public.

Understanding the growing importance of scientific agriculture education, MET founded the Agricultural and Food Management Institute (AFMI), offering specialised postgraduate diploma programmes with strong placement support. The institute addresses the need for market-oriented agricultural education in a country where agriculture remains a backbone of the economy.

The trust has also expanded into commerce and management education through MIT First Grade College and degree colleges established in Mysuru and Thandavapura. These institutions focus on employability, industry exposure, and skill development while serving students from both urban and rural backgrounds.

A major milestone in MET's journey has been its focus on rural empowerment through education. The establishment of Maharaja Institute of Technology Thandavapura brought quality engineering education closer to rural students, creating opportunities for many first-generation learners. The institution now offers programmes in engineering, management, and computer applications while also promoting sports and placement readiness.

In recent years, MET has expanded significantly into medical and allied health sciences. Maharaja College of Nursing, MIT Pharmacy College, and the Maharaja Institute of Ayurvedic Medical Sciences and Hospital reflect the trust's growing commitment to healthcare education. The Ayurveda institution, launched in 2024-25, received overwhelming response with all seats filled in its inaugural year itself.

Advancing Science Education Through Innovation and Holistic Excellence

JSS Science & Technology University

Established under the visionary leadership of JSS Mahavidyapeetha, JSS Science and Technology University has emerged as one of India's premier institutions for science, engineering and technology education. With a legacy that dates back to 1963 through the renowned Sri Jayachamarajendra College of Engineering (SJCE), the university has consistently blended academic excellence with innovation and research-driven learning.

Originally functioning under the University of Mysore and later affiliated with Visvesvaraya Technological University, the institution achieved university status in 2016, marking a major milestone in its academic journey. Today, JSS STU has evolved into a vibrant multidisciplinary university with over 8,000 students pursuing higher education across a wide range of disciplines.

Academic excellence with future-ready programs
JSS STU offers:

- 17 Undergraduate Programmes
- 14 M.Tech Programmes
- 17 Specialized M.Sc. Programmes
- 4 Premier MBA Programmes
- Ph.D. programmes across all disciplines

The university's science programmes are designed to align with global academic standards and evolving industry needs. High-demand courses such as MCA and BCA continue to attract students because of their strong industry relevance and excellent placement opportunities. The institution has also introduced advanced M.Sc. programmes in emerging domains such as:

- Data Science
- Artificial Intelligence
- Machine Learning

These programmes equip students with future-ready technical skills and prepare them for careers in rapidly evolving global industries.

Research and innovation culture

Research forms the foundation of academic life at JSS STU. The university actively promotes scientific inquiry, innovation and interdisciplinary collaboration across departments.

The Chemistry and Biotechnology departments have gained recognition for their contributions to pioneering research, with faculty and students participating in:

- International collaborations
- Externally funded research projects
- High-impact journal publications
- Patent-oriented innovations

The M.Sc. programmes in Mathematics and Physics also emphasize strong theoretical understanding combined with advanced analytical and computational research. This vibrant ecosystem encourages students to explore scientific challenges while developing practical problem-solving abilities.

Interdisciplinary learning environment

One of the defining strengths of JSS STU is its interdisciplinary academic ecosystem. Science students benefit from close interaction with engineering and technology disciplines, creating opportunities for collaborative learning and innovation.

This integration of science with technology enables students to gain broader exposure, industry insight and research-oriented thinking- a distinct advantage in today's competitive academic and professional environment.

Holistic student development

Beyond academics, JSS STU places strong emphasis on the overall development of students. The university promotes leadership, creativity and teamwork through a variety of:

- Technical clubs
- Scientific forums
- Cultural activities
- Innovation initiatives
- Student engagement programmes

Such activities help students develop communication skills, confidence and a well-rounded personality while preparing them for global opportunities.

Strong placement and alumni network

The university's Training and Placement Office plays a major role in enhancing career opportunities for students. Every year, more than 500 companies engage with the institution for:

- Campus recruitment
- Internships
- Industry projects
- Skill-development initiatives

The university also boasts a strong alumni network of over 25,000 members, creating valuable professional connections and mentorship opportunities for students worldwide.

Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering

An outstanding ecosystem for holistic growth

Established in 1997 in the heritage city of Mysuru, Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering (VVCE) has grown into one of Karnataka's premier engineering institutions, known for academic excellence, innovation and holistic student development. The institution functions under the aegis of Vidyavardhaka Sangha (VVS), an educational organization founded in 1949 by visionary leaders Sri Sahukar Channaiah and Sri K. Puttaswamy, former Minister of Karnataka, with the mission of providing quality education to all sections of society.

Over the decades, VVCE has evolved into a center of excellence in engineering and management education, combining strong academic traditions with modern technological advancement. Today, the institution stands as a vibrant educational ecosystem that nurtures talent, innovation and leadership among students.

Visionary leadership and strong governance

Vidyavardhaka Sangha continues to move forward under the able leadership of:

- Gundappa Gowda– President
- Sri Shivalingappa B – Vice President
- Er. P. Vishwanath – Secretary
- Sri Shrishaila Ramannavar – Treasurer

The institution is led by Principal Dr. Sadashive Gowda B, an accomplished academician and administrator with extensive experience in both industry and academia in India and abroad. His contributions to technical education have earned him the prestigious Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan National Award for Best Engineering College Principal from the Indian Society for Technical Education (ISTE).

Dr. Sadashive Gowda also serves as the Dean, Faculty of Engineering, at Visvesvaraya Technological University, further strengthening the institution's academic credibility and leadership.

Accreditations and academic recognition

VVCE is approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), recognized by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and the Government of Karnataka, and functions as an autonomous institution affiliated with VTU, Belagavi.

The institution has consistently maintained high academic standards and has received several prestigious recognitions:

- NBA accreditation for all eligible undergraduate programmes
- NAAC accreditation with 'A' Grade
- QS-I Gauge Gold Rating
- 'Institute of Happiness' Award

VVCE has also been ranked among the top 200 engineering institutions in India by reputed surveys and media organizations and featured in the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) rankings in 2022.

Diverse academic programmes

VVCE offers:

- Seven undergraduate engineering programmes
- Four postgraduate programmes
- Doctoral research programmes in nine departments.

With an intake of over 1,900 students and a campus community of more than 5,000 students, the institution provides a dynamic and intellectually stimulating environment.

The college is supported by over 268 faculty members, including more than 116 doctorate holders. Their dedication to teaching, research and mentorship has played a vital role in building VVCE's reputation for academic excellence and industry-oriented education.

Training and placement excellence

The Training and Placement Cell at VVCE plays a crucial role in enhancing student employability from the first semester itself. The cell regularly organizes:

- Soft skill development programmes
- Personality enhancement workshops
- Counseling sessions
- Technical training
- Mock interviews
- Placement drives

Students are also encouraged to undertake internships and industry projects that provide valuable practical exposure.

The institution's placement record reflects its strong industry reputation. Every year, more than 250 companies visit the campus for recruitment, offering both internships and full-time job opportunities to students across various domains.

INNOVATIVE TEACHING AND LEARNING ECOSYSTEM

One of the major strengths of VVCE lies in its student-centric teaching pedagogy and continuously evolving curriculum. The institution emphasizes both theoretical understanding and practical learning to prepare students for real-world engineering challenges. The curriculum is regularly updated to align with emerging technologies and industry expectations. Project-based learning, technical workshops, internships and experiential learning activities form an integral part of academic delivery. Collaborations with industries and leading EdTech companies further enhance student learning and professional readiness. These partnerships expose students to current technologies, industry practices and innovative problem-solving approaches.

RESEARCH, INNOVATION AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP

VVCE has created a vibrant ecosystem that encourages innovation, creativity and entrepreneurship among students and faculty. Research activities are actively promoted across departments, enabling students to explore new ideas and contribute to technological advancement. The institution also supports budding entrepreneurs through a dedicated incubation facility available on campus. Students with innovative business ideas receive mentorship, infrastructure support and encouragement to transform their concepts into viable ventures. Centers of Excellence established in collaboration with industries across various departments provide specialized training and advanced learning opportunities. These centers strengthen the connection between academics and industry while fostering holistic technical education.

Holistic student development

Beyond academics, VVCE strongly believes in nurturing well-rounded individuals equipped with leadership qualities, communication skills and social awareness.

The institution hosts more than 35 student-led clubs catering to diverse interests, including:

- Entrepreneurship
- Toastmasters
- Photography
- Cultural activities
- Technical innovation
- Sports and fitness

These clubs provide students with opportunities to develop confidence, teamwork, creativity and organizational abilities while exploring their passions outside classrooms.

The institution's focus on student well-being and positive campus culture earned it the 'Institute of Happiness' recognition, reflecting its commitment to creating a supportive and engaging educational environment.

State-of-the-art infrastructure

VVCE possesses modern infrastructure designed to meet the evolving demands of technical education. The campus features:

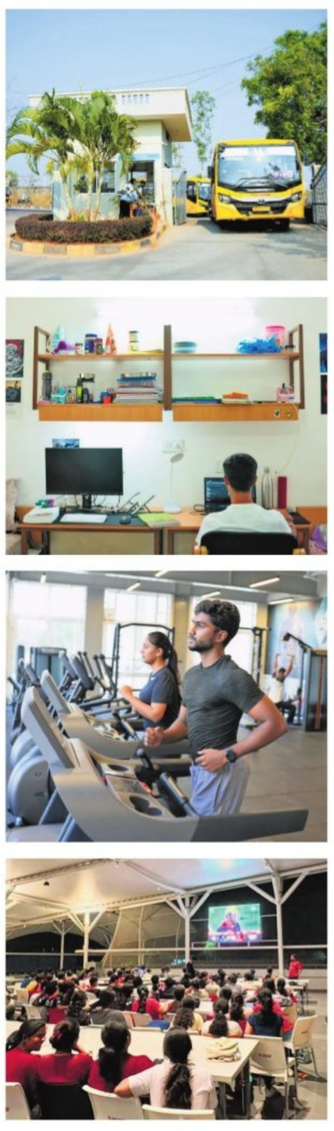
- Advanced laboratories
- Smart classrooms
- Research facilities
- Seminar halls
- Innovation centers
- Digital learning resources

The institution also provides comfortable and affordable hostel facilities for both boys and girls within the campus, ensuring a safe and convenient residential environment for students from different regions.

Building future-ready engineers

With innovation as its guiding mantra, Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering continues to empower students with the knowledge, skills and confidence required to excel in today's competitive world. By combining academic excellence, research opportunities, industry collaboration and holistic development, VVCE has established itself as one of the leading engineering institutions in Karnataka. As technology continues to transform industries and societies, the institution remains committed to nurturing responsible engineers, innovators and leaders capable of making meaningful contributions at both national and global levels.

NIE Mysuru: Building Future Engineers Through Innovation, Placements and Entrepreneurship



The National Institute of Engineering, one of Karnataka's oldest and most respected engineering institutions, continues to strengthen its reputation as a centre for academic excellence, innovation, entrepreneurship, and industry-focused education. Established in 1946, the institution has produced more than 40,000 successful alumni who today hold leadership positions across multinational companies, research organizations, and entrepreneurial ventures worldwide.

NIE Mysuru has consistently focused on creating industry-ready graduates through strong academic foundations, practical exposure, and innovation-driven learning. The institution offers undergraduate, postgraduate, and research programs across engineering and management disciplines while maintaining an ecosystem that supports creativity, leadership, and technical excellence.

One of the strongest highlights of NIE is its exceptional placement performance. The institution has maintained a placement rate of over 95 percent, with students securing opportunities in some of the world's leading technology and engineering companies. Major recruiters visiting the campus include JPMorgan Chase & Co., Cisco, Visa, Boeing, Fidelity Investments, Arista Networks, Akamai Technologies, Siemens Healthineers, and Emerson. Students receive placements across domains such as Software Development, Artificial Intelligence, Automation, DevOps, Manufacturing, Testing, and Research & Development. The institution recorded an impressive highest package of ₹56 lakh per annum, an average package of ₹ 12 lakh per annum, and more than 500 dream offers, showcasing its strong industry connect and career opportunities.

Beyond placements, NIE has emerged as a thriving innovation and entrepreneurship hub through the NIE Technology Business Incubator (NIETBI). The incubator, supported by grants worth ₹10 crores, promotes startup culture and entrepreneurial thinking among students and faculty members. NIETBI provides mentorship, infrastructure support, funding guidance, investor networking, and technical assistance for aspiring entrepreneurs. Through startup bootcamps, innovation workshops, and entrepreneurship development programs, the incubator encourages students to become innovators and job creators instead of merely job seekers.

Innovation at NIE is further strengthened through advanced research facilities and Centers of Excellence. The institution houses multiple specialized centres working in domains such as Artificial Intelligence, Machine Learning, Automation, Renewable Energy, IoT, Embedded Systems, Signal Processing, Climate Studies, and Smart Manufacturing. The ALPHA Innovation and Tinkerers' Lab, established with support from Lenovo, Motorola, and Maker Bhavan Foundation, provides students with hands-on experience in AI/ML computing, PCB design, rapid prototyping, 3D printing, and hardware development. These facilities allow students to transform creative ideas into practical real-world solutions.

Hackathons and technical competitions have become an integral part of student life at NIE. The institution actively encourages students to participate in national-level coding contests, innovation challenges, and hardware-based competitions. A notable recent achievement came at "Technivex 2026" held in Hubballi, where NIE students Rachit Kulkarni, Aditya S K, Channaveeresh S, and Adarsh Atadkar secured the "Social Impact Hardware Award" in the IoT track. Their innovative gesture-based gaming controller for differently abled individuals demonstrated the institution's commitment towards socially impactful innovation and practical problem-solving.

Student clubs at NIE also play a significant role in shaping leadership, creativity, and technical expertise. Clubs such as ONYX promote entrepreneurship and startup culture, while organizations like IEEE Student Branch, ISSA, OWASP Student Chapter, IUCEE Anvaya, Credit Circle, and Byte Club provide opportunities in cybersecurity, coding, finance, research, innovation, and professional networking.

Through workshops, hackathons, seminars, peer learning, and project collaborations, students gain valuable industry exposure and interdisciplinary skills. With a strong blend of academic excellence, outstanding placements, entrepreneurship support, research-driven learning, and innovation culture, NIE Mysuru continues to empower students to become future-ready engineers, innovators, and global leaders.

Founded in 1962 by the People's Education Society® (now People's Education Trust®), P.E.S. College of Engineering (PESCE), Mandya, is one of India's pioneering engineering institutions. Established under the visionary leadership of late Sri K.V. Shankaragowda, former Education Minister of Karnataka, the institution was created with a mission to provide quality technical education to rural and underprivileged students. Supported by Mandya's philanthropic farming community, PESCE has remained committed to empowering rural youth through education.

Sri K.V. Shankaragowda guided the institution until 1990. Dr. H.D. Chowdaiah later carried forward the founder's vision until 2020, contributing significantly to infrastructure development, including efforts toward a national-level sports complex. Today, the institution is led by People's Education Trust® President Sri K.S. Vijay Anand, under whose leadership PESCE is advancing toward new milestones in technical education.

Visionary Foundation and Institutional Growth

The roots of PESCE trace back to the establishment of the People's Education Society in 1958. Sri K.V. Shankaragowda envisioned affordable and quality engineering education for farmers, rural communities, and economically weaker sections.

Spread across a 62-acre green campus in Mandya, PESCE began with Civil, Mechanical, and Electrical Engineering branches and has since evolved into a premier institution.

PESCE is:

- Permanently affiliated with Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU), Belagavi
- Autonomous since 2008–09 under UGC
- A Government of Karnataka Grant-in-Aid institution
- Approved by AICTE, New Delhi
- Accredited with 'A' Grade by NAAC
- Accredited by NBA for eligible UG programs and MBA
- Ranked in the 201–300 band under NIRF Engineering rankings by the Ministry of Education, Government of India

Commitment to Academic Excellence

PESCE has established itself as a leading center for technical education through quality teaching, modern infrastructure, and industry-oriented learning. The institution follows global educational frameworks such as the Washington Accord principles, Outcome-Based Education (OBE), and the Choice Based Credit System (CBCS).

Students gain exposure to advanced learning opportunities, including access to over 15,000 courses through Coursera from more than 350 global universities and industry partners.

The institution continuously upgrades academic practices to prepare students for emerging technological challenges and dynamic industry requirements.

Placement Success and Global Opportunities

PESCE has built a strong placement ecosystem with over 200 recruiting companies visiting campus annually. From the graduating batch of 2025, 539 students secured placements with 753 job offers.

Leading recruiters include Infosys, TCS, Accenture, Cognizant, Capgemini, IBM, Tech Mahindra, Toyota Kirloskar, Siemens, Volvo, JSW, Daimler Truck Innovation Centre, LTTS, Brigade Group, Elsevier, Fractal, Talview, and Brillio.

The institution has also expanded global career pathways. Under the leadership of Sri K.S. Vijay Anand, PESCE has strengthened international collaborations, enabling overseas placements.

Students from graduating batches of 2024, 2025, and 2026 secured placements in Japan and Oman. Japan-based Zenken Corporation supported this initiative by providing language training, cultural orientation, visa assistance, and career guidance.

Centres of Excellence and Innovation

PESCE has established Centres of Excellence (COEs) to promote innovation, research, and practical learning.

Apple Education COE: Provides training in Apple technologies, software development, and iOS app design.

Electric Vehicles COE: Focuses on EV research, sustainable mobility solutions, prototype development, and industry collaboration.

Biofuel Research Information & Demonstration Centre (BRIDC): Established in 2012 with Karnataka State Bioenergy Development Board, the center promotes biodiesel research, green energy awareness, and farmer engagement through biofuel initiatives.

PRESIDENT

Entrepreneurship and Incubation

The PES NEXT incubation center, established under People's Education Trust®, bridges academics and entrepreneurship by supporting innovation-driven startups.

Spread across 9,000 sq. ft. with a 50-seat startup ecosystem, PES NEXT promotes technology ventures, rural innovation, and social impact enterprises. Currently, eight student startups operate under PES NEXT Foundation.

International Collaboration

PESCE has signed an MoU with Federation University Australia to strengthen global academic engagement.

The collaboration aims to facilitate:

- Specialized workshops and masterclasses
- Visiting faculty programs
- Global immersion opportunities
- MS programs in emerging technologies

This partnership enhances international exposure and learning opportunities for students.

Research and Development

Research remains a key strength at PESCE. The institution has secured over ₹4 crore in funded research projects from state and central government agencies.

Well-equipped laboratories, interdisciplinary research initiatives, and Centres of Excellence support innovation across engineering disciplines.

Faculty and research scholars actively contribute to projects aligned with industry and societal needs.

A Green and Holistic Learning Environment

PESCE's 62-acre campus offers a modern and student-friendly ecosystem with Wi-Fi facilities, central library, advanced laboratories, sports infrastructure, workshops, hostels, and transportation services.

Beyond academics, students participate in sports, cultural programs, leadership activities, and extracurricular initiatives that foster teamwork, creativity, and holistic development.

Shaping Future Engineers

P.E.S. College of Engineering stands as a symbol of visionary leadership, academic excellence, and rural empowerment. With a strong foundation in innovation, research, and quality education, PESCE continues to nurture engineers and leaders prepared to contribute meaningfully to society and the global technological landscape.
